McPherson Tells Crowd That Real 'Miss X' Now Under Suspicion
Kidnaping True, She States; Keys Will Testify at Hardy Trial

For the first time in many months, Anne Temple McPherson again gave expression of her famous "Miss X" case when she heatedly protested her innocence of any connection with the "Miss X" case, which she had been charged with the kidnapping of the famous actress, Carmel. McPherson, who is now in the custody of the Los Angeles police, stated that she had been kidnapped by a man who she said was a member of the "Miss X" case. EVERYBODY HAS FINE TIME DURING BATTLE OF NACO

Planes That Won't Fly, Cavalry That Cavils at Conflict Prove Features of Soldiers' Frolic

BY HARRY CARR
"Times" Staff Representative
NACO (Ariz.) April 3. (Exclusive)—The dramatic effect of the cavalry battle at Naco this morning was marred by the fact that a little Mexican corporal insisted on playing "Ramona" on a mouth-organ during the most exciting moments. Except the incidental music, it was an exciting and spectacular passage at arms.

The fight began early this morning just as the Arizona sun was turning San Jose Mountain into a pyramid of gold. It was supposed to open with an air fight between the rebel and Federal planes. Unfortunately the rebel ship arrived before the Federal aviators had finished their beauty sleep. So there was nothing for the rebel plane to do but sail around in obviously offended dignity and drop four bombs that didn't hit anything. It would, of course, have been more of a rebuke if they had hit something.

INHERITANCE TAXES CUT

Assembly Passes Bill for Slash
Only Two Dissenting Votes
Cast on Jones Measure; Now Up to Senate

BY C. A. JONES
"Times" Staff Representative
SACRAMENTO, April 3. (Exclusive)—With only two votes in opposition, the Assembly bill by Assemblyman Jones of Ontario, designed to reduce the burden of the State inheritance tax, was adopted today by the Assembly and sent to the Senate for action.

Notice was served by Assemblyman Patterson of Bakersfield that an attempt will be made in the Senate further to reduce the tax which the State exacts from the heirs to an inheritance. Mr. Patterson put up a battle to gain a victory for certain amendments in the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee but was defeated by a vote of 24 to 39. The bill thereupon was adopted, 70 to 2.

Expert Calls Quantity in Circulation of Newspapers Secondary Factor

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3. (Exclusive)—Quality rather than quantity in circulation should be the first factor of consideration to the advertiser using newspaper space, the Advertising Club was told today by O. C. Harn, managing director of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

"Do not buy space," he warned, "on gross circulation alone. There are many factors that should be studied by the advertiser who wishes to get the most for his money. The smaller circulation, in some cases, may be the better for your particular needs."

WILL ROGERS REMARKS:
NEW YORK, April 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We used to brag on the fact that unlike England, we had no different classes or ratings in this country, and here Secretary Stimson is called on to referee a bout in Washington's table etiquette. Washington can't go out to dinner till they decide who shall sit next to who at the diplomatic dinners. They ought to feed 'em Los Angeles style, slip everybody a plate and if they can't find the grub, why he wouldn't be much of a diplomat. I attended a dividend dinner where the President was, and they seated the diplomats according to what they owe us, England, France, Belgium and Italy were near the President, and the nations that didn't owe us a cent were at the foot of the table. I told 'em "You all better borrow something or you will never meet Coolidge."

The new bunch of rebels turned like a flash and rode like fury to try to surround them. As they were facing against capture, an order was given. What ho! The dread-avenge of the air to the rescue!

The aviators ran to the blue machine and wound it up for a while. But they couldn't get it going. They then wound up the red one for a while. Hoover Directs That Federal Soldiers Held at Fort Bliss be Sent Back to Mexico

WASHINGTON, April 3. (AP)—The American government today ordered the release of more than 300 Mexican Federal troops which have been detained at Fort Bliss, El Paso, Tex., since the capture of Juarez.

Release of the Federal troops was ordered by President Hoover, and Secretary Stimson of the State Department has advised the War Department to notify the Mexican Consul-General at El Paso that he may make such disposition of the troops as is desired by the Mexican government.

The Federal troops entered the United States after Brig.-Gen. Moore, commander at Fort Bliss, had arranged an agreement between the Federal and rebel commanders at Juarez.

Meanwhile, the State Department was informed by John E. Jones, American Vice-Consul at Aguila.

UNITED STATES MAY SPEAK TO TOPIKE

WASHINGTON, April 3. (AP)—The dropping of another bomb by a Mexican rebel aviator upon American soil aroused considerable interest here tonight and it was considered probable that the incident would bring another warning tomorrow to the revolutionary leaders with precautionary measures possibly being taken to prevent a recurrence.

It is recalled that Gen. Topete, commander of the rebel forces in the North Sonora area, had promised after three bombs had previously fallen on United States territory that it would not happen again and it is believed that he once more will be called to account for endangering the lives of American citizens.

tie with tired troops he limited his action that night to taking up positions within rifle shot of the enemy lines. He posted his soldiers in a string of haciendas about a mile south of Jimenez.

Early Monday morning Almazan started an attack and the battle raged all day. That night he took precautions to ward off an enemy counter-attack which, just as he had expected, was launched Tuesday morning.

REBEL DISASTER

The rebels hurled their entire force against the Federal lines with Escobar and Caraveo leading the assault in person. They tried to outflank the Federals with cavalry while making a simultaneous infantry attack against the center.

Gen. Almazan described this counter-attack as a complete rebel disaster. He said that both their infantry and cavalry were repulsed and that the Federals took up the offensive again, turning the repulse into a rout.

After hanging on to a few remaining positions in Jimenez throughout Tuesday, the rebels began a retreat at nightfall. Their cavalry was split into two columns, while fleeing toward Santa Rosalia.

The rebel horsemen met a detachment of 300 Federals under Gen. Benigno Serratos and Jesus Garcia who had been cut off from the main Federal army the day before.

Despite the superior number of the enemy, Serratos and Garcia attacked them and, according to Gen. Almazan's report, took 106 prisoners, among whom were Gen. Federico Barrera and several colonels. Later the Federal detachment, with its prisoners, succeeded in rejoining the main body of the Federals.

MRS. M'PHERSON HURLS CHARGES

the County Jail in that city to Sacramento as a witness for the prosecution in the impeachment trial of Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy opening next Monday. It was decided today with the signing of a subpoena by Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan.

Keyes is an inmate of the County Jail pending hearing of his appeal from judgment of a one to four-year prison sentence following conviction of accepting bribes while in office.

Carnahan signed the subpoena after visiting an affidavit submitted by Harry Sewell, member of the Assembly Board of Managers prosecuting Judge Hardy on charges of misdemeanors in office.

THIRD APPLICATION

This was the third time Sewell applied to Carnahan for the subpoena. Heretofore Carnahan has contended that the prosecution's affidavits failed to prove that Keyes would be a material witness in the impeachment. Senate rules provide that the managers must substantiate subpoena applications with conclusive proof that witnesses sought are so clearly points relative to the charges.

The affidavit filed by Sewell today stated Keyes had evidence that Judge Hardy knew the District Attorney's office was investigating the kidnapping story told by Mrs. Almee Semple McPherson, evangelist, six years ago; that, while handling affairs for Mrs. McPherson, Hardy conferred with Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sieff, and that she told him she was willing to testify it was she and not Mrs. McPherson who accompanied Kenneth O. Ormiston, the evangelist's radio operator, to Carmel during Mrs. McPherson's disappearance; that Judge Hardy did not notify Keyes of Mrs. Wiseman-Sieff's statements.

"LOVE OFFERING"

The affidavit stated further that Keyes took a statement from Judge Hardy relative to the $2500 "love offering" given him by Mrs. McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, after the kidnapping investigation and that the judge later denied portions of his statement.

The affidavit also sets forth to the effect that the District Attorney's office was "blocked" at every turn in its efforts to determine the truth of Mrs. McPherson's story, and that Mrs. Wiseman-Sieff told Keyes she was not at Carmel, but that she had been induced by Mrs. McPherson and Kennedy to make such an assertion.

Keyes is wanted at the trial to controvert testimony expected to be presented by defense witnesses, Sewell's document said.

This makes thirty-one witnesses the prosecution has subpoenaed to date. The defense was granted twenty-five blank subpoenas. Under the Senate rules the defense need not present affidavits proving the materiality of witnesses.

SUBPOENA SERVED ON MRS. KIMBALL

OAKLAND, April 3. (AP)—A subpoena to appear before the State Senate in the impeachment proceedings against Judge Hardy was served on Mrs. Virie Kimball, sister of Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sieff, at Mrs. Kimball's home here tonight.

The subpoena was served by Harry Carroll, assistant sergeant-at-arms of the State Senate, and Arthur T. Craner, a detective believed to be employed by the impeachment board.

The two were reported trying to find Mrs. Wiseman-Sieff also.

WIFE AND CHILD GONE SINCE LAST AUGUST

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3. (AP)—James L. Quinn of Santa Monica reported to local police today that his 20-year-old wife and 3-year-old son disappeared here some time prior to last August. He said that his wife and son, preceding him here, had left quarters in a local residential section when he arrived on a business trip last August. He said that his wife had threatened to commit suicide.

COLUMBUS (O.) April 3. (AP)—E. A. Welsh, auditor of the Gwynn Milling Company here, and Eleanor Porter, stenographer in the company's offices, were found shot to death early today in an automobile near New Albany, east of here.

County authorities believe Welsh shot the girl and then turned the gun on himself.

Welsh was married and the father of two children, a son, 18 years of age, and a daughter, 16. He was secretary-treasurer of the Business Men's Advertising Service here.

CURTIS OPENS SOCIAL BATTLE

Stimson Ponders Appeal of Vice-President
Seating at Table Tricky Point in Capital
Subject of Many Disputes Since Jackson's Day

When Secretary Stimson was compelled to reject the Vice-President's request or invite a social rebellion of international ramifications for several months, beginning last fall before election, when some of her friends insisted she was not receiving proper consideration. She was then only a Senator's official hostess. The question of her position came to a head at a head when the ladies of the Senate, just before inauguration, met to organize for another year. By tradition the presidency of the organization goes to the wife of the Vice-President. Mrs. Gann's ambition to hold the place, even though she was only the sister of the Vice-President-elect and had a perfectly good husband of her own, was well known, but the Senatorial ladies elected Mrs. George Moore Hampshire who is president pro-tem of the Senate. Mrs. Gann was elected to honorary membership.

KELLOGG PEACE BREAKER
After the inauguration Vice-President Curtis moved into an elaborate suite at the Mayflower Hotel and Mrs. Gann, with her husband, came to live with him. At the same time Mr. Curtis notified the State Department that he had designated Mrs. Gann as his official hostess. Secretary Kellogg, following precedent, notified the Diplomatic Corps in a letter to Sir James Howard, British Ambassador, dean of the diplomats, that Mrs. Gann would be ranked by the wives of Cabinet officers and Ambassadors extraordinary. Sir Howard sent the notification to the Diplomatic Corps and his letter in some way became public. The ruling indicated that Mrs. Gann's status, and this impression prevailed until today when the State Department made it known that former Secretary Kellogg himself had made the decision.

Since that decision the Vice-President has been dining out considerably, always with Mrs. Gann, and sometimes with Mr. Gann, too, but as the season of big dinners in Washington is on the wane there have been some embarrassing situations to date. It is reported that at the celebrated dry breakfast at Friendship on Sunday morning the Vice-President was seated with a little group of celebrities at a corner table, whereas Mrs. Gann was among the great majority who took seats about the spacious drawing-room.

SIMPLE? OH, YES
As the State Department sees it, the problem is simple. At the Vice-President's house, which means the apartment at the Mayflower, Mrs. Gann as official hostess is preme. But outside she has no official status.

By a coincidence, the Vice-President and Mr. and Mrs. Gann are dinner guests at the White House tonight, but there are no difficulties there. The other guests are Mr. and Mrs. Adolph C. Gutzwiller, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gibson, Mrs. Gibson is in Europe, so Mrs. Gann's official position at tonight's dinner is not challenged.

DEATH TAX CUT BILL PASSES

had a full calendar and could not get to the bill at its next session. Assemblyman Keaton of Long Beach then called the attention of the Assembly to the strange picture presented by Mr. West in shying off from receiving a revenue bill in his committee. Mr. Keaton pointed out that Mr. West is ordinarily very grasping when it comes to revenue measures and insists that they be referred to his committee. Mr. Keaton, a member of the Revenue and Taxation Committee, enunciated his astonishment at learning that the Taxation Committee had no time for the bill as, he said, last night the committee sat around for a few minutes and then broke up, the members hurrying off to other engagements. Assemblyman Bernard of Butte county, when he learned that the reductions would mean a loss of $1,500,000 in State revenue, made an assault on the bill on that ground. He was answered by Assemblyman Combs of Napa, who declared that while the State will not receive that sum of money, it will continue in active business life, providing additional increment on which the State and local governments can levy taxes. Mr. Patterson then moved reference to the Revenue and Taxation Committee, which was lost. During the discussion of the bill Mr. Jones and Mr. West declared that the tax is burdensome and unpopular and that it kept wealthy people who live in California from establishing their legal residence here. In a statement issued today Mr. Riley declared that the reduction in the basis of computations of last year's tax will amount to $1,594,000, about half of which will go to widows. He said the reductions equalize the tax on estates not affected by the 80 per cent credit allowed by the Federal government. The exemptions he stated, were caused by an effort to protect a source of State revenue which brought in $11,000,000 last year, approximately a quarter of the sum flowing into the State's general fund.

Official status. The department points out that Miss Allice Mellon, now Mrs. David K. Bruce, was the official hostess of the Secretary of the Treasury, but that outside the Mellon household she ranked as a daughter, not as a wife. When Ramsay MacDonald was Prime Minister of Great Britain, his daughter was official hostess at Downing street, but far down the line at other houses. But Mrs. Gann's friends cite other precedents. They recall a sister of President Cleveland was official hostess before his marriage. Dolly Madison was hostess during Jefferson's administration, but she was also the wife of the Secretary of State in her own right. Perhaps the basis of the Curtis demand is that old "Uncle Joe" Cannon is reputed to have upset the White House official precedence by demanding full recognition for his daughter, which President Roosevelt accorded.

ASKING IMPOSSIBILITIES
The unofficial attitude at the State Department is that the Vice-President is making a mistake trying to upset the rules of etiquette and that Secretary Stimson cannot change the minds of the diplomats. The net result might be that the ambassadors would develop sore throats whenever they knew that their wives would have to trail Mrs. Gann and would stay away. At some affairs, an Ambassador might be more of a lion than a Vice-President, so that Mrs. Gann might merely be "losing out on a lot of nice parties" as one expert observed today.

By a coincidence, the Vice-President and Mr. and Mrs. Gann are dinner guests at the White House tonight, but there are no difficulties there. The other guests are Mr. and Mrs. Adolph C. Gutzwiller, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gibson, Mrs. Gibson is in Europe, so Mrs. Gann's official position at tonight's dinner is not challenged.

OFFICIAL CIPHER
Thus far Mr. Gann, who is an attorney and who has heretofore managed to avoid publicity of any sort, has no official status. He is problem for the hostesses who invites the Vice-President and his hostess, but wonders if she ought to include the hostess's husband. Just before the inauguration the committee of which Senator Moses was chairman wrestled with the Mr. Gann problem. They did not know whether he should be invited to the White House or not. Mr. Gann's official status is not challenged.

had a full calendar and could not get to the bill at its next session. Assemblyman Keaton of Long Beach then called the attention of the Assembly to the strange picture presented by Mr. West in shying off from receiving a revenue bill in his committee. Mr. Keaton pointed out that Mr. West is ordinarily very grasping when it comes to revenue measures and insists that they be referred to his committee. Mr. Keaton, a member of the Revenue and Taxation Committee, enunciated his astonishment at learning that the Taxation Committee had no time for the bill as, he said, last night the committee sat around for a few minutes and then broke up, the members hurrying off to other engagements. Assemblyman Bernard of Butte county, when he learned that the reductions would mean a loss of $1,500,000 in State revenue, made an assault on the bill on that ground. He was answered by Assemblyman Combs of Napa, who declared that while the State will not receive that sum of money, it will continue in active business life, providing additional increment on which the State and local governments can levy taxes. Mr. Patterson then moved reference to the Revenue and Taxation Committee, which was lost. During the discussion of the bill Mr. Jones and Mr. West declared that the tax is burdensome and unpopular and that it kept wealthy people who live in California from establishing their legal residence here. In a statement issued today Mr. Riley declared that the reduction in the basis of computations of last year's tax will amount to $1,594,000, about half of which will go to widows. He said the reductions equalize the tax on estates not affected by the 80 per cent credit allowed by the Federal government. The exemptions he stated, were caused by an effort to protect a source of State revenue which brought in $11,000,000 last year, approximately a quarter of the sum flowing into the State's general fund.

OIL-SAVING PLAN HITS LEGAL SNAG

Federal Board Can't Indorse Curtailment Scheme
Attorney-General Hints Law Forbids Agreement
Petroleum Institute Seeks State Backing Now

WASHINGTON, April 3. (AP)—Secretary Wilbur told the American Petroleum Institute today that under a ruling of the Attorney-General the Federal Oil Conservation Board has no authority to approve the institute's proposed curtailment of production for 1929 to the 1928 level. The board is entirely sympathetic with the move to conserve natural oil resources and will be as helpful as the law permits.

Atty.-Gen. Mitchell's ruling was presented to representatives of the institute by the Interior Secretary after its president, E. B. Reeser, had asked the board to approve the curtailment plan. The ruling did not pass upon the legality of the proposed curtailment, as the Attorney-General stated that this question was not one on which his office could rule.

SEEK OTHER MEANS
At the conclusion of the session the institute representatives indicated they might seek other channels to put conservation into effect. Reeser, who had advanced as a reason for asking approval of the plan that the program would coincide with the Conservation board's aims, said that the opinion of the Attorney-General apparently brought "the institute to the end of the road so far as curtailing production is concerned." After the meeting had adjourned, however, Reeser issued a statement saying that "the sympathetic attitude of the board is very pleasing to us and we believe that the statement made by the Attorney-General will not have the effect of stopping the conservation movement."

NOTHING ILLEGAL
It is the intention of the institute, he said, to continue the study of the program and put it into effect whenever possible through the assistance of State authorities. Such a curtailment as planned, he declared, is not in violation of the antitrust laws, but the production of oil is a matter of interstate commerce and therefore not subject to Federal supervision. C. B. Ames, general counsel of the Texas Company and a representative of the institute, informed the board that the opinion of the Attorney-General apparently pre-supposes a violation of the law makes our appearance here look as if it were a plea for immunity from the law.

"Such is not the case," he said. "It has never occurred to any of us that we are not well within the law in our plan and the suggestion of the Attorney-General comes as a distinct shock."

In concluding his opinion, the Attorney-General had declared that the institute make it clear that its members already realize that under existing laws such an agreement could not be made without the sanction of some official of the United States authorized to give it and, as I have pointed out, no such authority exists. Mr. Ames suggested that the board take the proposal of the institute and submit it to President Hoover with any recommendations it saw fit. If the board would take action, he said, his company would gladly put the plan into effect without any further conference with the Federal authorities. Secretary Wilbur said he wished it understood that the board did not consider the appearance of the institute's representatives before it as a plea for an "immunity bath," but as an honest effort on the part of the oil industry itself to bring about a much-needed reform.

CURTAILMENT DUE

Among the oil men present the general opinion was expressed that the next step toward bringing about a curtailment was to work through State governments. Mr. Reeser said he proposed to ask the Federal authorities to call a Governors' meeting to discuss the subject. It was not believed by the oil men that the Federal Trade Commission would wish to halt the program on the ground that it was in restraint of trade. R. C. Holmes, chairman of the general committee, said that the oil industry had too much at stake to try to take the advantage of the situation and raise prices. In the event there was a general rise of price, he said, the Trade Commission would have the authority, and should exercise it, to see that no restraint was being practiced.

WOMAN STIRS ARMY TURMOIL

Sends Flood of Threats to Disclose Scandal
Society Matron Acts to Force Colonel's Rise
Affair Laid to Love-Craze for Married Officer

BOSTON, April 3. (Exclusive)—A young Boston society woman, a recognized leader in the most exclusive circles of the commonwealth and a former war worker, madly infatuated with a scandal which will shake the Army whom she met in France, has put the War Department in a turmoil. The whole military intelligence department at the army base here, at her heels. For days she has been bombarding the War Department with telegrams from Boston, threatening to publish to the world a scandal which will shake the army to its foundations unless her dear friend, the colonel, is made chief of the infantry staff of the Army at once.

She has supplemented the telegraphic blasts at the War Department by messages addressed personally to the Washington correspondents of the Boston papers, signed by the initials of their editors, ordering them to go to the War Department at once and get the facts concerning a big scandal, which the department is suppressing.

Following these messages she has sent others to Secretary Good, purporting to be signed by prominent women of Boston, warning the Secretary that Republican women here are aroused over a scandal in the War Department, and that they insist on his doing something about it. The army intelligence officers insist as do the Department of Justice agents working on the case under the direction of both the Secretary of War and the Attorney-General, that her identity be kept from the press and public for the present at least. Her friend, the army colonel, brought before his superiors, has protested vigorously that he has had no connection with the young woman's campaign in his behalf. He declares he is happily married, and that the young woman is pursuing him to his intense annoyance. He declares that the President's Cabinet, at Washington, she declared that unless the promotion of her colonel was made at once, she would release a scandal which would shake the entire nation, and arouse the attention of the entire world.

HOOVER TO LEAD BOYS' CLUB WORK

Honorary Chairmanship of National Committee Accepted by President

CHICAGO, April 3. (P)—President Hoover has accepted the honorary chairmanship of the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club Work, which directs the organized agricultural activities of 4-H clubs. He announced his acceptance in a letter received today by Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer and functioning chairman of the committee.

"The work of the 4-H clubs is fundamental," President Hoover wrote. "It is bringing about a more economic production of all agricultural products; it is improving rural homes; it is developing rural leadership, molding character and building citizenship."

"Therefore, I accept with pleasure the honorary chairmanship of the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club Work, which has for its purpose the extension of the membership of the clubs so that additional thousands of boys and girls may be given greater opportunity for development and achievement."

VOTERS HOLD YOUNG CITY ATTORNEY BEST

Stand of Labor on War Credits Stirs England

LONDON, April 3. (P)—The principal topic of political conversation in London today is a decision taken at the annual conference of the Independent Labor party at Carlisle instructing its members in Parliament to vote against all war credits.

Thus, if the Labor party forms a new government after the forthcoming elections, members of the Independent Labor party section, which numbers 117 in the present House and is largely composed of advanced Socialists and intellectuals of the labor movement, will be expected to oppose all appropriations for the army, navy and air force.

The press generally criticizes the Independent Labor party action and even the Laborite Herald points out that this policy already has been rejected by the Labor party itself.

BAY CITY SUBWAY TO COST $9,000,000 MILE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3. (Exclusive)—An estimate of $9,000,000 per mile for the construction of a subway under Market street to care for present surface street cars was submitted to the Board of Supervisors today by City Engineer Eckert, who said the figures are only a "raw estimate" and provide for two tracks only. There are four tracks on the surface. Construction distance under tentative plans, which still are in the formative stage, will be two and one-fourth miles.

Youth Chooses Death to Inquiry on His Truancy

SACRAMENTO, April 3. (P)—Fearing the call of a truant officer more than he did death, Robert Johnson, 14-year-old junior high school student, today committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a shotgun.

When D. S. Frame, superintendent of school attendance, called at the home of Johnson, he reported he heard a gunshot. Finding the door unlocked, he dashed inside to find the boy with a wound in his head. In a school composition book lying near the body was the boy's brief farewell to his mother. It read:

"I couldn't go to school today, ma. I am a boy. I am a truant. The boy was alive when the officer arrived, but died as he was being rushed to the Emergency Hospital.

STATE ASKS PHILIPPINE DUTY WALL

Legislature's Resolution Urges Congress to Act and Protect Farmer

SACRAMENTO, April 3. (P)—The California Legislature prepared today to forward to President Hoover and members of Congress copies of an adopted resolution urging Congressional adoption and administrative leadership toward restoration of adequate tariffs on imports of agriculture products from the Philippine Islands. The resolution originated in and was adopted by the Senate. The Assembly passed the measure today.

The resolution recounted that under the 1899 treaty of peace Congress saw fit to levy the full rate of duty on Philippine-grown products; that the Tariff Act of 1902 provided that all articles produced in the islands should be permitted to enter the United States under a levy of but 75 per cent of the rate upon like articles from other countries and the 1909 Tariff Act provided for free duty except on rice and a specified amount of tobacco and cigars up to 300,000 gross tons annually.

These tax levies were declared evidence that Congress intended to protect American farmers from competition with cheaply produced products from the Philippines.

REPUBLICANS SWEEP ST. LOUIS ELECTION

ST. LOUIS, April 3. (P)—Victor J. Miller, Republican, was re-elected Mayor of St. Louis in yesterday's municipal election by a majority of 691 votes over Lawrence McDaniel, his Democratic opponent. Complete unofficial returns tabulated today gave Miller 108,639; McDaniel, 100,648. A proposal to increase the salaries of city firemen $25 a month was defeated about three to one. Republicans elected an entire slate of fourteen City Aldermen.

Modern SAFE GUARDS in TRUCK-BUYING AND OPERATION GENERAL MOTORS TRUCKS

To provide better trucks is a big aim. To buy haulage equipment with greater care and wisdom is equally important.

Increased efficiency in all use of trucks will be the sum, the result of these two factors.

Those are the reasons back of three modern developments made by General Motors Trucks.

Straight Rating: Clarifies the question of what a given truck and body will actually handle with year-in, year-out efficiency. Avoids the vagueness, hedging, and hidden penalties of the old "one ton", "two ton", etc., rating terms. It is based on maximum allowable total gross weight of any General Motors Truck. From this subtract known chassis and body weights—the answer is clear, exact. A guarantee takes on new meaning. Tire equipment gives utmost mileage.

No "Excess Allowances"—but Extra Value, built in. No unsound allowances are made on trade-ins, as far as General Motors Trucks are concerned. Actual used truck value is determined by impartial, fair appraisal. The buyer is free to consider real value in a new truck—without "hoss-trading" methods. List prices of General Motors Trucks contain no "water".

They share fairly, with buyers, unusual advantages wisely used.

A Real Work Test: at our expense. We provide any available General Motors Truck—model, chassis or body that most closely meets your exact needs. We provide gasoline and a man to accompany your driver. You give them your regular loads and regular routes—and keep them at work for an adequate test. Our purpose is to help a man get work-facts, in advance. To put something more than words back of every General Motors Truck.

This company believes it is sound business to further the interest of truck-buyers in every possible way.

That is the big reason back of these General Motors Truck developments. That is what our pledge to further Better Delivery means.

Put these practical safeguards at work for you, in considering any truck investment. See these modern trucks, and get the facts.

Wanted to Remain in Office for Time Being

VIENNA, April 3. (P)—The cabinet which since May 19, 1927, has been governing Austria under Dr. Engel, resigned today. MONTE CARLO MILITARY GETS EXTRA CARTRIDGES

NICE (France) April 3. (P)—Carabinieri at Monte Carlo have been issued extra cartridges in preparation for any "eventualities" in connection with present popular unrest in Monaco. Another meeting of the principalities' 700 or more voters has been called for Sunday and there is some fear the discontent, which has forced several demonstrations of late, may crop out again. A local newspaper has warned the French government to watch the situation, inserting a reminder that under the Versailles Treaty France is allowed to intervene at any time Monaco is unable to handle its own affairs. There are several factions in the citizenry of the principality. The strongest is the Monegasque citizens' party, which is willing to keep Prince Louis but wants a new constitution. Other groups want French annexation or protection, or Italian annexation or protection, while another wants the League of Nations to settle the difficulties. It now is possible to take a big step forward in normal development of the country, but since he personally is considered a hindrance to that development, he decided to resign. The Seipel ministry was a coalition affair including representatives of the Pan-German, Agrarian and Christian-Socialist parties. Dr. Seipel belonged to the last-named organization.

DE KING CASE DRY SPY GONE

Deputies Hunting Him on Perjury Charge
Investigator Reported on Way to Chicago
Service of Warrant for Slayer Withheld

AURORA (Ill.) April 3. (P)—Eugene Boyd Fairchild, county dry investigator whose assertedly perjured affidavit led to the raid in which Mrs. Lillian De King was fatally shot by a deputy sheriff, could not be found today by deputies who sought to serve a warrant on him charging perjury. Reuben Anderson, night city marshal at Geneva, reported seeing Fairchild and a companion speed east from Geneva toward Chicago at 3 a.m. today. The warrant charged that Fairchild signed the search warrant on the De King home, asserting that he personally purchased liquor there. At the coroner's inquest yesterday into Mrs. De King's death he admitted he had not bought the liquor. Once before Fairchild disappeared. The day after the fatal raid he left Aurora and was traced to his former home at Odell, Ill. A coroner's mittimus for the arrest of Deputy Sheriff Smith, who killed Mrs. De King, was issued today but service was withheld because Smith lies helpless in an Elgin (Ill.) hospital, suffering from the leg wound inflicted by a bullet fired by 12-year-old Gerald De King. The manslaughter charge against him will be presented to the grand jury probably next week. In addition to the grand jury inquiry, another by the State Legislature appeared a possibility today. Representative John P. Peit of Batavia introduced a resolution in the House at Springfield demanding a special commission to investigate the killing.

Foreign Service Conference Set for Next Week

London and Paris Vacancies Await Appointments

WASHINGTON, April 3. (Exclusive)—President Hoover contemplates making few changes in the list of American ambassadors and ministers now accredited to foreign countries when he meets with Secretary of State Stimson next week. While vacancies in the posts of ambassador to Great Britain and to France already are assured, a large majority of the incumbents who desire to remain in office and whose records justify their retention undoubtedly will be kept in the service.

One of the recent house guests of the President was Minister Hugh Gibson, now assigned to Switzerland, who is credited with being the applicant for the so-called "career" men in the diplomatic service. These men all resigned their posts on March 4, last, but many of them were encouraged to let their real desires be known, with the result that practically all are understood to have signified a desire to remain in the service.

Apparently the President is in sympathy with their desire to build up a permanent foreign service similar in many respects to that of many other governments.

MARCH FOR HERRICK TODAY

World Notables Will Meet in Pageant as Paris Bids Farewell to Beloved Ambassador

PARIS, April 3. (P)—The body of American Ambassador Myron T. Herrick starts tomorrow on its homeward journey with honors never before accorded a foreigner in France.

An imposing military pageant will accompany the coffin from the American Embassy to the church, after services embodying speeches by Gen. Gouraud, military Governor of Paris.

The pall-bearers will include Premier Poincare, Foreign Minister Briand, Count Quinones de Leon, Owen D. Young, Gen. Pershing and J. P. Morgan. The procession will proceed from the Embassy to the American Cathedral in the following order: The family is to lead the way, followed by Embassy staff, Gen. Lason, representing President Doumergue; the President of the Senate, the President of the Chamber of Deputies, members of the French Cabinet, Marshals Joffre, Lyautey, Petain and Franchet d'Esperey, the Diplomatic Corps, the Prefect of the Seine, the Prefect of Police, the President of the Municipal Council, the President of the General Council, Gen. Gouraud and representatives of American societies.

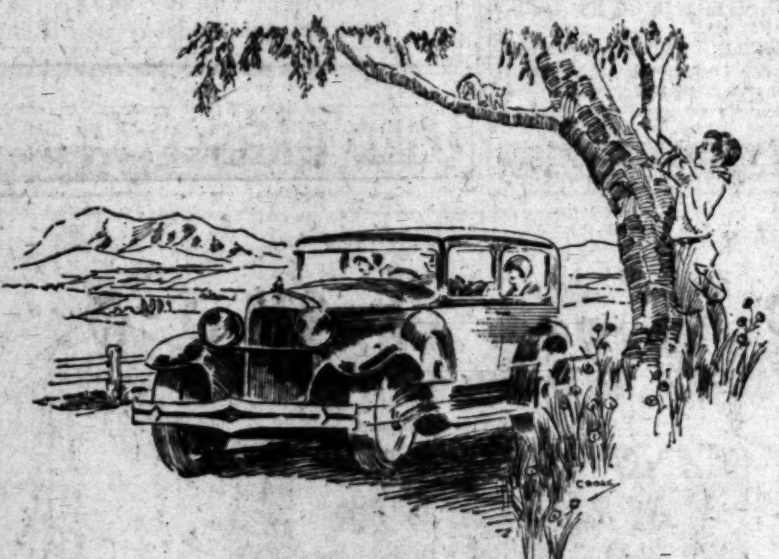

Detachments of the finest units of the French army will give honors. Dean Beckman of the American Pro Cathedral will read the funeral service to which the ceremony at the church will be limited. The body will remain in the church until 6:30 p.m., when it will be escorted to the Montparnasse station by the family, Embassy staff and consular staff. There it will be placed aboard a special train which will be due at Brest about 7 a.m. Friday.

INITIAL MONTH BUSIES HOOVER

Sunday Only Day of Leisure for New President

Congress Called on Farm Aid and Tariff Problems

Reform of G.O.P. Patronage in South Ordered

WASHINGTON, April 3. (P)—At noon tomorrow President Hoover will reach the end of his first month in the White House, a month in which he has applied himself unrelentingly to the problems of the government, made numerous important decisions and announced many outstanding new policies of administration.

Day by day he has worked away at his desk, receiving an apparently never-ending procession of official callers, consulting with Cabinet members and studying the rule of Presidential correspondence that cannot be cared for by subordinates. Only on Sundays has he devoted himself to leisure and relaxation. The rest of the time it has been work and plenty of it.

CONGRESS CALLED
The month has seen the President call Congress into extraordinary session for the consideration of farm relief and limited tariff revision, announce that the administration will follow a policy of rigid conservation of government oil, and order that tax refunds of more than $20,000 be open to public inspection.

Further, Mr. Hoover has been scanning carefully the list of men available for appointment to the commission which will make a thorough study of Federal law enforcement and court procedure, and it has been learned that he disapproves of sporadic or spectacular attempts to enforce the prohibition statute. Instead, the President prefers to build up among the American people a substantial respect for all laws, and a realization that they must be obeyed.

STRICT CONSERVATION
Answering the questions of newspaper correspondents on plans for administering Federal oil supplies, Mr. Hoover declared that there will be only the strictest of conservation. There will be no leases or disposition by other means of government oil land, either held or controlled, while Mr. Hoover is in the White House, with the exception of such leases as may be mandatory under existing laws.

The subject of tax refund publicity had been the center of an extended controversy in Congress. After Secretary Mellon had recommended it, the President issued an executive order making refunds in excess of $20,000 open to the public.

CLEAN-UP IN SOUTH
Determined to end the abuses which have come to light in the distribution of government patronage in certain sections of the South, Mr. Hoover issued what amounted to a mandate that the leaders there must remove objectionable conditions or the government itself will see that this is done.

Mentioning South Carolina, Georgia, and Mississippi specifically, the President called for a reorganization of the Republican party in those States.

The formulation of farm relief and tariff revision bills, Mr. Hoover is leaving to the committees of Congress with the announcement that the constitutional division between the legislative and executive branches of the government must be rigidly maintained. He feels, too, that his views on farm relief and the views of the party on that subject are so well known by virtue of the Presidential campaign that no further pronouncement from him is necessary.

EXPENSES PAID
In the interests of economy, Mr. Hoover has had the U.S.S. Mayflower, famous as the official Presidential yacht, withdrawn from service and decommissioned. This action he estimates will save the government $300,000 annually. Also for reasons of economy Mr. Hoover has done away with the White House stables and their seven horses and three caretakers.

The personnel of the law enforcement commission is not to be announced for two or three days. The President is anxious that it be made up of men of outstanding experience and ability in the legal and judicial field and he is scanning the possibilities closely.

SACRAMENTO, April 3. (P)—The Assembly today passed a bill introduced by E. C. Adams of Livingston providing for the withdrawal of the State from land settlement or colonization projects. Probate Proceedings Under Way in Mexico Court; Divorced Actress-Wife Enters No Claim MEXICO CITY, April 3. (P)—Probate of the estate of Jaime Martinez Del Rio y Vincent, divorced husband of Dolores Del Rio, began today in the Civil Court of the Tenth District of Mexico City. He died of blood poisoning in Berlin on December 7, 1928.

The estate is valued at several million pesos, but the exact amount is not specified. It probably will be more than $1,000,000, although he had heavy losses after his marriage.

The only heir is the mother of the deceased, Barbara Vincent Viuda De Martinez Del Rio. Dolores Del Rio has entered no claim against the estate.

SMITHSONIAN HAS BUSY YEAR

Report Issued on Result of Scientific Work

Twenty-seven Expeditions Sent Out in 1928

Dr. Abbott's Star Studies at Mt. Wilson Traced

WASHINGTON, April 3. (Exclusive)—Twenty-seven expeditions went out from the Smithsonian Institution in quest of knowledge during 1928, according to the institution's report of explorations and field work for the year. The expeditions measured the temperature of the stars, uncovered the history of peoples long since vanished from the earth, collected fossils, made field observations and obtained specimens of plants and animals of the sea and land new to science. In range they touched the five continents of the earth.

Dr. C. G. Abbot, secretary of the Smithsonian, achieved notable results in solar and stellar observations during an expedition to Mt. Wilson. Using the radiometer, he succeeded in observing the spectrum of the planets Mars and Jupiter and of eighteen stars. This constitutes a new achievement in the history of astrophysics.

The delicacy of the measurements may be indicated by the fact that in the instrument used the vanes were made of house flies' wings, about one-seventy-fifth of an inch wide and about one-twenty-fifth of an inch tall. The instrument was suspended in hydrogen at about one-fifth thousandth ordinary atmospheric pressure by a quartz fiber

GREATEST RADIO FIGHT IMPENDS

Wire and Wireless Interests to Battle Control Plan

Harbord Voices Disapproval of Federal Regulation

Opposes Tying Emergency Business With Red Tape

BY MARTIN CODEL

WASHINGTON, April 3. (Exclusive)—The apparently inevitable trend toward the establishment of a Federal commission to regulate all forms of radio and wire communications, possibly as the successor of the present Federal Radio Commission, undoubtedly will be resisted vigorously by the large wire and wireless interests affected.

This impression is gained from the conversations here this week with officials of radio and wire telegraph companies. It is strengthened by statements made by Gen. James G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America, in an interview today. Gen. Harbord had returned from Washington, where he conferred with President Hoover on the proposal of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, which recently was merged with the various Mackay telegraph and cable systems, to acquire the transatlantic and ship radio systems of the R.C.A. for a $100,000,000 to $120,000,000 stock consideration.

Gen. Harbord's objections to the proposed commission for communications mainly were twofold. First, he sees great difficulty in having a national commission dealing with international subjects, since an American company usually can own only this end of a circuit. Secondly, he objects to the "radically slow" and "dead hand" of government commissions over an "emergency business" like the telegraph.

POINTS TO EXAMPLES

The example of the British, who have combined all State-owned cable and radio systems into a unified private holding and operating company, was cited. Unification of the systems of Germany, France and Italy also was pointed out as a need for like American unity.

"There are few cases," said Gen. Harbord, "where cable companies own both ends of their circuits—the American end and the foreign end. There are few, if any, cases in which radio companies own the home end of the circuit and the foreign end. In Japan, China under the new government, Norway, Sweden, Turkey, Venezuela and possibly some other countries, the end of the circuit which communicates with American radio is owned by the government."

"How practicable it will be for a national American commission to impose its views on circuits so comprised, seems to be a doubtful question. The natural tendency will be for other countries—and the smaller and less important the country the more apt it is to do it—to set up similar attempts at control in foreign countries of the American end of such international circuits."

EMERGENCY BUSINESS

"By the very nature of things," Gen. Harbord continued, turning to the efficiency aspect, "the telegraph business is an emergency business. Few people telegraph unless they desire to avoid delay. It is essentially an emergency form of communication."

"The action of government commissioners is notoriously slow. To subject an emergency business, operating under the keenest form of competition, to the dead hand of a government commission would, to say the very least, not be conducive to telegraphic speed."

What the evolution of the world radio-cable situation will be, the general said he is unprepared to predict. It is the hope, he says, of the I. T. & T. to absorb the R.C.A. system to prevent world communications leadership from passing into the hands of Great Britain.

To effect such a combination, it is necessary to amend the prohibiting clause of the radio law, and it is regarding this obstacle that Gen. Harbord and Soethenes Behn, head of the I. T. & T. conversed with President Hoover and a member of the Cabinet this week.

GREAT GROWTH CITED

With respect to the growth of the Radio Corporation of America, whose common stock fluctuations have presented one of the amazing phenomena of the speculative world, Gen. Harbord concurred in the view that the R.C.A. is developing fast into a holding company of operating subsidiaries in such fields as radio and phonograph production and distribution, ship-to-shore international and domestic communications, talking motion-picture production, theater ownership and other industries that are developing around the radio art.

In fact, the parent company today actually operates directly only its set and tube business, all other lines being distinct though corporate entities. It is not improbable that even this business soon will be incorporated separately, what may become known as Radio-Victor, Inc. in view of the recent merger with the Victor Phonograph Company.

Rivals' Windows Smashed on Order, He Says

Federal Attorney Advises Him Course Illegal

CHICAGO, April 3. (Exclusive) Two tobacco store owners who sold candy, cigars and sweets as a sideline testified today in the trial of thirty-nine members of the Chicago Association of Candy Jobbers on charges of violating the anti-trust law that windows in their stores had been shattered when they refused to accede to the association's demands to stop selling candy.

They corroborated the testimony given earlier in the day by Vincent Pastor, former business manager for the association and now a government witness, to the effect that he had directed a man recommended to him as a good slinger by "a City Hall friend," to smash the windows and follow up that violence with stench bombs later on. The slinger, whom he said he could not name, reported that his commissions had been executed and was paid $25 for each window, Pastor said.

AUTHORIZED BY JOBBERS
The violence was fully authorized by three officials of the association, Pastor said. A. A. Hoffman, president; Henry Meislering, vice-president; and Richard J. Hepsen, then director, directed him to proceed in that fashion, he testified.

BE YOUR AGE, DEACONS TOLD

Religious Educators Decide Proper Examples Must be Set for Youths to Follow

DES MOINES, April 3. (Exclusive)—"Let the deacons act their age and religion and the youngsters will follow suit," was the conclusion reached here today at a meeting of professional religious educators. The professional meeting was preliminary to the annual religious education association conference which opened tonight.

Leaders from every denomination represented charged that the modern system of "teaching beautiful theories" rather than living theories is responsible for all that is wrong with practical Christianity, which is, they said, in effect not practiced at all.

"Let us have leaders in our church whose lives are good examples for the young people," they pleaded. "Let political 'wire-pulling' preachers get out of our pulpits."

1406 South Halsted street, and Ludwig Cohen, who owns the Maywood Tobacco Company, 912 St. Charles Road, were the dealers who testified. Their windows were smashed during August, 1926, they said.

Eight stores were thus treated, Pastor said, and the association was so well pleased at his thoroughness that they raised his salary from $5000 to $7500, he testified.

OFFICIAL WARNED
Late in 1926, the ex-business manager said, he went to Washington to confer with Asst. Atty.-Gen. Mary Connor, the government anti-trust expert, who is prosecuting the present case. Miss Connor told him then, Pastor said, that the methods being used by the association were unlawful and would lead to extensive data for Deming's use. He said he was told by Deming that the sale was off, but Deming bought several days later directly from the owners.

The court held that Hill erred in not acquainting the owners with the fact that he was dealing with Deming and in not subsequently bringing the owners and Deming together.

Broker's Fee Decision Given

SACRAMENTO, April 3. (P)—In a decision considered of far-reaching importance to realty brokers throughout the State, the Third District Court of Appeal today ruled that a broker who has not closed negotiations to buy property is not entitled to a commission.

The court reversed the decision of the Yolo county Superior Court, where a commission of $1800 was awarded W. L. Hill, Santa Rosa broker. Hill had suggested to Richard Deming, Jr., the purchase of a ranch property in Yolo county and testified that he had prepared extensive data for Deming's use. He said he was told by Deming that the sale was off, but Deming bought several days later directly from the owners.

The court held that Hill erred in not acquainting the owners with the fact that he was dealing with Deming and in not subsequently bringing the owners and Deming together.

McNARY'S BILL URGED BY HYDE

Secretary Favors Board to Help Farmer

Waterways Also Counseled on Relief Program

Need of Tariff Revision Told Congress

WASHINGTON, April 3. (P)—Enactment of legislation similar in intent to that proposed by the new McNary farm bill was recommended to Congress today by the Secretary of Agriculture, Arthur M. Hyde of Missouri, who said that such action appears to be the clear mandate of the country.

Appearing first before the Agriculture Committee of the Senate and later the Agriculture Committee of the House, Mr. Hyde emphatically declared in favor of a Federal farm board with broad powers to deal with what he described as a multitude of problems standing in the way of a complete rehabilitation of the farming industry.

The clear duty of the forthcoming special session, he said, is to pass a bill such as the one introduced last fall by Senator McNary of Oregon, which provided for a farm board authorized to loan money from the Treasury to stabilization corporations for the purchase of surplus crops in order to maintain a constant price level.

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS

In addition, the Secretary told the committees, inland waterways should be promoted to bring about lower transportation costs, the tariff on agricultural products should be revised so that the farmers may obtain the fullest benefits from the protective structure and the government's system of rural credit should be improved in order that the maximum of assistance could be derived from these facilities.

Throughout his testimony Mr. Hyde stressed that he was expressing his personal views and that his remarks could not be interpreted as utterances from the White House.

"The President can speak for himself," he replied in response to a question by Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas.

After the Secretary had concluded his remarks before the House committee, Representative Aswell of Louisiana, the senior Democratic member, said that as far as he was concerned he proposed to go the "whole limit" to support the President Hoover in carrying out the farm program you have so ably presented.

The announcement by Aswell, long an opponent of the equalization fee principle of the twice-voiced McNary-Haugen bill, was greeted with applause in the committee room. After this had subsided, the Secretary said:

"I thank you, Mr. Aswell, but I am from Missouri."

BUILD UP FARMERS

In his testimony before the Senate committee Mr. Hyde contended that the proposed farm board ought to use existing farm organizations as much as possible.

"We want to build up the farmers themselves to control their products, not to build up bureaucracy," he said.

He was questioned closely by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, as to what should take the place of the equalization fee as a means of meeting the cost of controlling crop surpluses. The Secretary replied that he knew of no substitute.

THREE-FOLD PLAN

The three-fold plan presented by Secretary Hyde covered tariffs, waterways and a powerful farm board.

"First," he said, "the revision of the tariff for better and greater protection of American agriculture. That subject is being dealt with elsewhere."

"Second, reduction of transportation costs by development of inland waterways and highways. The advancement of this likewise lies in another quarter."

"Third, the assistance of the Federal government in reorganization of marketing systems through which the farmer may obtain a more economical and more stable outlet to the consumer."

Secretary Hyde told the Senate committee that in assisting reorganization of the marketing system, "we have all of us conceived the creation of a Federal farm board, with advisory committees, which should be given authority and resources with which to deal within this third category of the problem."

"And it is not one problem," he added, "it is several hundred problems. Many of these problems are unknown to us today and will only be developed with experience."

JARDINE ASSISTED

The McNary bill advocated by Secretary Hyde approaches the problem of handling surpluses in a radically different way from the McNary-Haugen bill, so strenuously opposed by the Coolidge administration.

The new McNary bill was prepared by Senator McNary with Secretary Jardine and experts of the Commerce and Agricultural departments.

In the old McNary-Haugen bill, the farm board would have been empowered to create stabilization corporations which, from money originally provided by the government, would have bought up surpluses and sold them in world markets. Losses so incurred would have been assessed against the farmer in the form of an equalization fee and this income would have replenished the revolving fund.

Under the new McNary bill, the farm board will loan money out of a $300,000,000 revolving fund to stabilization agencies to buy up surplus crops. These will be filtered in the domestic market in an orderly manner to prevent a flooding of the market.

THE same group of engineers and scientists who perfected the hermetically sealed mechanism of the General Electric Refrigerator, now have designed and produced an all-steel refrigerator cabinet—the first all-steel refrigerator ever built! It is a small-family model—entirely of steel—strong and durable as a safe. It has no wood in it. It cannot warp. No cold can seep out, no heat can creep in.

Quantity production and the employment of the most

Remember this Statement when buying an electric refrigerator

"Over two hundred thousand American families—one million men, women and children—already enjoy the convenience and health-guarding service of the General Electric Refrigerator. Not a single one of these owners has ever spent as much as one dollar for service—a new record in the industry."

—T. K. Quinn, Manager Electric Refrigeration Department, General Electric Company, Broadcast over National Network March 23, 1929.

efficient manufacturing methods have made possible this very low price. Never before has any single refrigerator been built in such great quantities

... never before has such high quality been available at such a low price.

You will readily understand why this has been called "the refrigerator of the future" when you examine it yourself and compare it carefully with all others. Be sure to come in and see it. This, or any model, may be purchased on easy payments.

Every General Electric Refrigerator has a temperature regulator mounted on the top and easily accessible. This improvement, originated by General Electric, makes possible the speeding up of ice making in all apartment and home installations.

Steady Tone on London Market

LONDON, April 3. (Exclusive)—The stock market was generally steady today with trading on a somewhat more active scale. The industrial list was in fair demand, and the oil group had a better tone. Columbia Graphophone and H. M. V. Gramophones were in good demand, while the mining list moved irregularly. British American Tobacco was the feature of the tobacco group as it moved to higher levels, while artificial silk and textile issues were quiet. Electrical and hydro securities were in good demand with General Electric, Ltd., fairly strong. Rubbers were neglected. Canadian Pacific rallied and Ford Motors, Ltd., was quoted around 35-15-16.

The gilt-edge division again displayed a strong tone. Foreign issues were dull. Home rails quiet and Argentine rails easier.

AIR LINE CONTEST NEARS

Price Cutting in Passenger Fares Portends Critical
Test; Competition Intensified

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Cutting of passenger fares is beginning to develop as a major problem for the airplane passenger companies operating in California. This is usually the omen of a critical test for the survival of the fittest, and before these merry little wars run their course a number of major developments in the character of competition generally take place. For the airplane carriers this will be the first real trial they have met as business enterprises.

Like any new industry the transportation of passengers by air has attracted a large number of competitors, particularly here in California where the airplane industry is growing faster than in any other part of the country. Whether the field will support the number of companies now operating or beginning to operate, or whether some will be forced to drop out or consolidate with others is a question that the cutting of passenger fares may help to determine.

NEW LINES ACTIVE

Monopolies on the California passenger routes are now almost a thing of the past. The initial success of the Western Air Express has prompted competition on nearly all of the popular routes, and naturally the first bid of the new companies for business follows a time-honored rule of reducing prices. Fares on the Los Angeles-San Francisco and the Los Angeles-San Diego runs have already been reduced from the original figures.

When transcontinental routes are in actual operation, the chances are that cutting of fares will also be a factor. The lines that are operating portions of projected cross-country routes are already running into this trouble, and it appears that these ventures will all go through the acid test before the coast-to-coast business is on a permanent basis.

In California the Los Angeles-San Francisco travel by air is sought for by such lines as Western Air, Madrox, and Pacific Air Transport, the last named of which also runs to Seattle and is operated by the Boeing interests. The Boeing company, which announced plans for the building of a factory near Los Angeles, is reported to have under consideration a transcontinental line running east from Los Angeles.

Pickwick Airways is the latest entrant in the Los Angeles-San Diego competition for traffic, and has the benefit of an organization experienced in transportation. Madrox and Western Air are the two older lines in this field.

TO EXTEND EAST

From Los Angeles to Phoenix and El Paso, the Standard Air Lines, controlled by the Aero Corporation of California, Inc., operates a passenger line. Within six months it is planned to extend this service to Fort Worth and Dallas to connect with the air line to Chicago, the Gulf ports and along the Atlantic Coast to New York.

On its Los Angeles-to-Texas business the Standard Air Lines faces competition from Pickwick Airways, according to an announcement recently from the latter company. The Pickwick line will also enter the Los Angeles-San Francisco competition, it is reported, which may forecast further reduction in fares on this route.

Transcontinental Air Transport, fathomed by the Curtiss interests, is still another competitor for California business in connection with its projected transcontinental service. This company may decide to affiliate with one of the existing lines, or enter the California field from this route.

From this summary of the competitive situation it is not difficult to envisage some interesting times ahead for the passenger companies operating in this State, with the probability that several major regroupings will be affected before the year is over.

American Concern

NEW YORK, April 3. (Exclusive)—Control of the American Railway Express Company has been secured by the Adams Express Company through the purchase of 122,710 shares of American Railway Express stock, the entire holdings of that stock by the American Express Company.

Through this move the Adams company now owns 75 per cent of the American Express Company. Since March 1, 1929, when the railroad express business of the American Railway Express Company passed into the hands of the Railway Express Agency, Inc., controlled by the American Express Company, the Adams company has been virtually an investment trust with assets of about $42,000,000 in cash and securities.

The Adams Express Company has been an investment company since the express business of both the American Express and the American Railway Express Company during the war. The Adams Express Company during the war.

When James A. Patten of Chicago, said some years ago that frugality of habit was the one essential of success he did not mean what is usually denoted by that expression. Men may be brilliant and yet never get anywhere because they do not have the money necessary to back their scheme.

PORTO RICO INDUSTRY LAGS

Conditions in Island Expected to Receive Attention from Hoover Administration

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, April 3.—Business conditions in Porto Rico are not good, and have not been for some years. The principal crop, sugar, has been low in price, and the island is suffering much as Cuba is, from overproduction.

It is reported that 400,000 Porto Ricans are out of work. The Legislature has demanded of the United States more home rule and a native Governor.

The minority group in the Legislature has called President Hoover's complete program of rural and elementary education with attention particularly paid to trade and agricultural training, "the plea."

Porto Rico, as part of the United States, doubtless will receive attention from the Hoover administration.

"If I found our indebtedness amounting to $50,000,000, and lend us another $50,000,000 at a low interest rate over a long period of years to enable us to carry out a complete program of rural and elementary education with attention particularly paid to trade and agricultural training," is the plea.

Someone has said that one good way of feeling 50 to 60 is to get suitable and sufficient exercise, to walk whenever possible, instead of riding; to eat the right kind of food in the right way, to avoid putting on excess fat, to avoid worry, to play right; to work right and to avoid nervous strain as far as possible.

Benjamin Franklin, a student of the body as well as of the mind, grew healthier as he grew older. At 70 he was a member of the committee of five appointed to draw up the Declaration of Independence; at 75 he was on his way to Great Britain to make peace, at 79 and

Plan Starts Slump

NEW YORK, April 3. (P)—The stock market has grown so nervous of late, what with the violence of recent price movements and the ensuing controversies over credit, that a little bad news mixed with the good today was sufficient to check a forward trend of considerable proportions and turn the general market reactionary.

The bad news was an opinion of Attorney-General Mitchell that the Federal Oil Conservation Board had no authority to grant the American Petroleum Institute immunity under the Sherman antitrust law in its crude-production control plan. Oil shares were heavy from the start on rumors that such an opinion was forthcoming, but when it was officially announced around midday the whole list became unsettled.

This unerving development came on top of rumors that a 6 per cent red-emption rate may be instituted by the New York Federal Reserve Bank tomorrow. The rumor gained some credence as powerful interests in New York banking circles are known to favor it, and the Federal Reserve Board and the twelve governors of the reserve banks were again in session in Washington. Unofficial reports from the capital, however, were to the effect that red-emption rates were not discussed.

Call money rose to 10 per cent, and threatened to go higher.

A "Business Man's" Investment

Much has been said during the past few years about the "business man's" type of investment. It is this type of investment, wherein security of principal and rapid increment of capital over a period of years is of more consequence than an immediate steady but nominal income. Nothing appears to lend itself so surely to this end as a properly constructed and efficiently managed realty investment trust corporation. Dealing in the safest commodity on earth, which is the earth itself, and protecting the invested capital further by a wide-spread scientific diversification, such corporations have earning potentialities far beyond the ordinary. A group of Los Angeles business investors have formed such a corporation and have already paid in over $350,000 in capital. The possibilities of such a company are of much interest to the more substantial investors, and information will gladly be given to such men upon request.

SULPHUR AND STEEL PIPE TRAFFIC GAINS

Thirty thousand tons of cargo in two commodities, steel pipe and sulphur, will be handled at the terminal of the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company during the next two months, it was announced yesterday by F. McDowen, general manager of the Pacific Coast Shippers' Association.

As the first shipload of Texas sulphur for the new factory of the Dominguez Chemical Company, 10,000 tons of the product will arrive today from Freeport aboard the steamer Hutchinson, en route for the port of Los Angeles.

Trends Reviewed

Two nationally known business and financial leaders spoke yesterday at the joint luncheon of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association. The one named the business man and the other his relation to government affairs. The other discussed the great era of prosperity the country has been enjoying and its effect upon the stock market.

John E. Edgerly, president of the National Manufacturers Association, was the chairman of the luncheon. Industrial Council, and recently president of Moody's Investment Service, were the two speakers.

at the luncheon at the Hull President Shannon Crandall of the Chamber of Commerce acted as master, with President John Coffin of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association presiding.

BUSINESS IN CONTROL

In bringing out his view the business man and industrialist were vital interests that even in the affairs of his country.

Mr. Edgerton noted that the United States as an institution has been transformed from a potentiality in the hands of makers to the greatest business institution on earth in the hands of business men. Fully 90 per cent of the power is handled by business with business and industry and the same is true in a measure with the problems confronting the municipality and the state.

Thus it is that the modern man must be thoroughly going on in government affairs, said Mr. Edgerlin, particularly in the field of taxation. The tremendous advance in this item of taxes alone constitutes one of the chief things in the doing business today, notwithstanding the refreshing reduction in taxes brought about under the Coolidge.

GOVERNMENT EXPENSIVE

The speaker estimated the cost of government in America today at about $12,000,000,000 annually, to say, he put it, is one of every dollar goes to the cost of operating the government.

After the picture of a financial officer, Mr. Edgerlin, said, "I put the picture of a financial officer, bringing home to the audience the close relationship between the close relationship between the government and why they are so expensive."

ing on in government matters. An enormous number of laws enacted by State Legislatures probably 50,000, having been passed already this year, he said. The program considered about 100 laws, of which about one-third were on the books. The British government in a similar time passed 194 laws.

Mr. Edgerton paid tribute to Mr. Hoover as President and as a legislator. California on her part, he said, never went to the White House better equipped to do the job before him than President Hoover, he said. Browsers also in that very fact have a handicap in that it is a tendency on the part of the average person to push all responsibility away and say: "Let Hoover do it!"

He also stressed the fact that people prosperity is based on industry and that we are not going to progress any faster than our industries progress. Numerous reasons have come over here and there and will continue to come to study our government and our standards but to study our industries. Our industry is the thing here that other countries are looking at, he said. That is why constant effort has been made in industry such a high degree of perfection.

Los Angeles then came in to the banquets at the hands of the speaker and from his historical point of view that the most important thing for the healthy development of the community is to have a positive attitude toward industry on the part of the people, such as exists in Los Angeles.

...I'm glad to see such progress, even in the last few years. He always had it to the city's policy of racial freedom, the full swing of the American plan for industry.

STRANDED WIFE MAY GET TRIP

Mrs. Asveda's Case Passed on by County Authority
Payment for Her Passage to China Held Legal

Opinion Prepared for Head of Outdoor Relief

Mrs. Mathilde Asveda, wife of a wealthy Eurasian silk broker, and herself of Russian descent, may add 6000 miles to her record of charity globe-trotting if the County Department of Outdoor Relief pays her fare and that of one of her two children to Hongkong, China, where she says her husband is waiting for her.

Deputy County Counsel Vobayda at the order of County Counsel Mattoon, yesterday prepared an opinion for Supl. Miller of the outdoor relief that the county can pay Mrs. Asveda's fare to Hongkong if she can claim the status of a foreign pauper.

Stranded in Paris, Mrs. Asveda had her fare paid to New York by the American Society in Paris, and a New York charitable organization sent her to Los Angeles, where she is said to be staying with friends.

Her second child was born in Los Angeles in September, 1928. Vobayda's opinion does not hold that the county can pay that child's fare to Hongkong, as the child is an American citizen, and Mrs. Asveda can leave it in Los Angeles if she doesn't want to take it with her.

Mrs. Asveda's husband was born in Macao, a Portuguese treaty port in China, of Portuguese parents. He married his wife in Tokio and, in 1921, obtained a legal separation from her. He agreed to pay her $300 a month. In September, 1928, she was in Paris, according to the records in the County Charities office, he quit paying her, and she was forced to make her way to the United States with the help of friends.

Although naturalized in the United States, Mrs. Asveda must assume the nationality of her husband, according to a recent court decision. The County Counsel's office recently held that it was legal for the county to pay the fare of three children to Greece, after their mother had died. Their father, a Greek, was willing to support them in his native land, where he had remarried.

Pierson Quits Race for Bench

Announcement that he has withdrawn as a candidate for Office No. 8 of the Municipal Court was made yesterday by Warren Lee Pierson, attorney, who notified Judge Dudley S. Valentine, the incumbent, of his action.

Mr. Pierson in his letter to Judge Valentine said that he was motivated by the vote given the incumbent in the recent plebiscite conducted by the Los Angeles Bar Association. He congratulated Judge Valentine on the result of the vote, observing that "it indicates to me, as it must to everyone, that you are conducting your office very satisfactorily."

Mr. Pierson is a resident of the city, and in the recent plebiscite conducted by the Los Angeles Bar Association, he was one of the few who voted for the incumbent, Judge Valentine.

CITY DENIES SEVENTEEN DAM CLAIMS

Excessive Damages Asked Cause Refusal to Settle; $790,000 Involved

After having approved more than $2,500,000 of St. Francis Dam damage claims up to date, the City Council yesterday denied seventeen claims which totaled $790,000. The claims denied were regarded as unreasonable.

A special citizens' committee has been working with the City Attorney's office in passing on the claims and has succeeded in reaching compromises with nearly all the claimants whose demands are regarded as excessive, thus obviating the necessity of court actions by sufferers in the disaster to establish their claims.

However, the claimants whose demands were turned down yesterday, unless they change their minds and accept the compromises offered.

In taking its action yesterday, the Council was guided by a report of its Finance Committee, which said it had been informed by the citizens' committee and the City Attorney's office that they had been unable to obtain a compromise on any of the seventeen claims.

The seventeen claims acted on yesterday included twelve for death and five for personal injury. Three of the death claims were for $100,000 apiece, there was one personal-injury claim for $100,000 and another personal-injury claim for $50,000.

Wife Charges Doctor With Miserliness

Dr. William Gordon Wheatley was supported by his wife's earnings as a school-teacher while he was getting his medical education, Mrs. Grace Erastine Wheatley asserts in her suit for divorce, on the ground of cruelty, on file yesterday.

Dr. Wheatley says that her husband not only paid undue attention to his secretary, Mrs. Helen Downey, but spent more money on saddles and bridles for his two horses than on his wife and child. Dr. Wheatley makes $1000 a month, his wife says, but she had to obtain her weekly allowance of $20 from Mrs. Downey.

After she had gone without a new coat for seven years, the plaintiff said, he sent his secretary with her to see that she didn't buy one that cost more than $50. When she bought a $68 one, she said, Dr. Downey held out $6 of her weekly allowance for three weeks to make up the difference.

The couple married November 11, 1918, and separated January 4, 1929. They are still living in the same house, it was stated.

BURR MONTOSH TO SPEAK

"What's the idea?" I asked him through an interpreter. "Are you going to turn rebel again?"

"Quien sabe?" he said, shrugging his shoulders. "We were on the rebel side; now we are Federalists. I keep the ribbon; it might be convenient."

SHORTER DAY PLEA HELD OVER

A request by the employees of the Harbor Department that they be allowed to end their day's work at 4:30 p.m. instead of 5 p.m., by taking only half an hour instead of one hour for lunch was held over for a decision at request of President Allen by the Harbor Commission yesterday.

The important question was whether the public would be inconvenienced by shortening the day for the employees.

PROMOTER'S FILES HELP PROSECUTOR

Gardner Case Charges Declared Substantiated by His Office Records

Substantiation of charges that Carl J. Gardner, Los Angeles promoter of charity and military balls, accepted money from contributors who intended to aid and believed they were aiding a charitable organization was obtained yesterday from Gardner's office files, according to Dep. Dist. Atty. McInnes.

The corroboration is in the form of notations on the cards of "prospects" which stated: "Does not want tickets but will make donation." McInnes asserts.

Gardner was arraigned before Municipal Judge Ambrose on a charge of forging an indorsement to a $2 check given in payment for a ticket to a ball to be given at the apartment on the 15th inst. by the American War Mothers' Association. His bail was fixed at $1500 and the preliminary hearing set for next Tuesday.

WAS "OIL MAN"

While renting the apartment, Shivers said, "Kelly" represented himself to be an oil man, and wanted the apartment for conferences.

Mrs. Beatrice Wagner, 1819 Buda street, formerly a resident of the Beagle-street neighborhood, testified she saw Mrs. Grimes with two men, one of whom was Kelly, on the evening before the raid. Other prosecution witnesses have asserted the men were Cox, who is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Grimes, and Marco.

Mrs. Wagner was excused without cross-examination.

Mrs. Donald Crawford, formerly Miss Dorothy Strohmeyer, was in the neighborhood that night with her husband and saw some police activity about the cottage after she heard a crash as if someone were breaking down a door at the Grimes' home.

George E. Jeffers, secretary of the Police Commission, went to the stand for a short time during the prosecution's effort to introduce the minutes of a commission meeting November 9, 1927, pertaining to the Jacobson arrest. The attempt to introduce the document over defense objections was unsuccessful, and Jeffers retired as a witness.

When Johnson was testifying concerning the collection of huge sums "to carry on this fight" the Senators inquired a lot about what the fight consisted of but got little information beyond the financing of Summers' trips to Washington maintenance of a suite of offices and his expenses.

Johnson was placed on the stand by Wheeler to testify that there is no Mexican record of the grant of land which established the original authority upon which modern claims to the land are based. Valley lands are founded. His testimony to support this theory was in substance that he had letters from Mexico to this effect and that he was told so by an attorney, C. A. McGee of San Francisco who some years ago went to Mexico City to find out about the records. It was the Senators who drew from Johnson the testimony about the raising and spending of the thousands of dollars by the Summers organization.

The hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m. today in Department 530, Courtroom 5. The room was packed with spectators yesterday.

SENATORS HEAR LAND-GRAB PLAN

Homestead Promoter Tells of Failure to Win

Witnesses Reveal How Gold Poured in for Years

Wheeler Says He Still Sees Rainbow Ahead

In Washington, testified that promoters of the homesteading movement had considerably misrepresented his attitude in the matter when he was in the Interior Department. He said that their representations that the department recognized the right of homesteaders to file against such properties as attacks on the land and that the department attitude was exactly the contrary. He charged much misuse by homestead promoters of his part in the matter when he was in office, 1921-24.

Oscar Lawler, another of the chamber and really committee attorneys, gave the Senators many citations in court decisions against the present possibility of getting homesteads on any of the lands in San Fernando Valley because title was united many years ago.

Wheeler called to the stand Stuart O'Melveny, E. Palmer Conner and Harry Chandler and asked them a series of questions about some of the holdings and business connections which the witnesses readily answered and were excused. They own some of the lands in question.

It came out that Wheeler is trying to get through homesteading about $50,000 of lands belonging to Paine Verdes Estate.

TELL OF FUND RAISING

Clinton Johnson, who said he is engaged in research work, testified that the beginning of the homesteading movement against the lands involved was in 1922 "when some people met here in Los Angeles" and one Ben Getzoff, now dead, told them that the lands were open to homesteading.

"We raised about $3000 to send McLendon back to Washington to confer with the Land Department," Johnson said, "and he came back and said that he had learned that the United States Land Department considered the lands open to homesteading so an organization for the purpose was formed."

There was an organization then known as the School of Applied Christian Psychology, headed by a Dr. William R. Price, now dead, according to Johnson, and Dr. Price interested some of that cult in the work. Johnson said he did not know how much Price collected from would-be homesteaders but that the man turned in $15,000 to the homesteading organization.

Then, according to Johnson, those who provided the original $3000 got their money back. Price got out of each prospective homesteader.

HOW "PROSPECTS" PAID

Johnson said he was with the homesteading organization from 1922 until last August and that he turned about $30,000 to the project.

Johnson said that about $30,000 to $35,000 more money put in up to 1928. Some homesteaders were let in for $100, some for $250, some for $500 and some for as much as $1000, Johnson testified. In some instances, Wheeler said, the initial payment into the organization was $1000. In other instances it was provided that the homesteader would have to pay a balance of $1000 in installments.

The money was taken in without paying anything.

The money was used in taking care of Summers, attorney for the organization, Johnson testified. He said that Summers did not get stated sums, but for example, would call for "a couple of thousand and get it."

A suite of five rooms at $18 a month is maintained by the organization, he said. Johnson testified that he had letters from Mexico to this effect and that he was told so by an attorney, C. A. McGee of San Francisco who some years ago went to Mexico City to find out about the records. It was the Senators who drew from Johnson the testimony about the raising and spending of the thousands of dollars by the Summers organization.

NOT ADMITTED IN STATE

It came out upon questioning by the committee that Summers never has been admitted to the California State Bar Association and that he can practice here only in Federal Courts.

When Johnson was testifying concerning the collection of huge sums "to carry on this fight" the Senators inquired a lot about what the fight consisted of but got little information beyond the financing of Summers' trips to Washington maintenance of a suite of offices and his expenses.

Johnson was placed on the stand by Wheeler to testify that there is no Mexican record of the grant of land which established the original authority upon which modern claims to the land are based. Valley lands are founded. His testimony to support this theory was in substance that he had letters from Mexico to this effect and that he was told so by an attorney, C. A. McGee of San Francisco who some years ago went to Mexico City to find out about the records. It was the Senators who drew from Johnson the testimony about the raising and spending of the thousands of dollars by the Summers organization.

April has not been much of a rainmaker for Los Angeles. The average for that month being only .29 of an inch. The heaviest total for the month was 3.77 inches, in 1903.

RANCHERS BENEFIT BY RAINS IN NORTH

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3. (Exclusive)—Rain, characterized by Maj. Bowie of the Weather Bureau as of "inestimable value" to grain and other crops, particularly in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys where soil has been unusually dry, fell throughout Northern California today. Wet weather had been anticipated in the south, he said, but a storm area off the Central California coast drifted north as it passed slowly eastward, to the benefit of ranchers. The forecast is for continued cloudy weather, probable showers, moderate temperatures, but light snows in the upper reaches of the Sierras.

"The rainfall throughout the State is due to only about two-thirds of the average and more is badly needed," Maj. Bowie said. "No damage to fruit crops could be expected from today's precipitation, which was light. Its benefit to grain and other crops is inestimable."

DR. MOORE WILL BE GUEST AT SYNAGOGUE

Rabbi Mayer Winkler of Congregation Sinai yesterday announced that Dr. E. C. Moore, director of the University of California at Los Angeles, will be the guest of honor in the pulpit at the synagogue's service in honor of youth tomorrow evening. All fraternities, sororities and young people's societies have been invited to attend. Rabbi Winkler will speak on "The Religion of Youth." Dr. Moore will make an address followed by traditional music by Cantor A. Silverman and choir. The service will close with a social hour by the Sinai Sisterhood and Sinai League.

BRAIN TESTS TO BE AIRED

Harvard Professor Will Discuss Limits of Reliability

The extent to which tests may be relied on to measure human intelligence will be discussed in two lectures at the University of California at Los Angeles by Dr. E. B. Wilson, head of the department of vital statistics at Harvard University. Dr. Wilson will speak Friday at 2 p.m. and again next Monday at 3 p.m.

Dr. Wilson has made a specialty of statistics as applied to human endeavor and has advanced some revolutionary theories regarding them. He has just concluded a series of lectures and consultations at the University of California at Berkeley.

mission from Washington attended the production in a body and highly praised the author, the cast and the musical numbers.

Those included in the party were United States Senator and Mrs. Nye of North Dakota, United States Senator and Mrs. Dale of Vermont, United States Senator Bratton of New Mexico and Ingham, Secretary of the commission.

The party was arranged by Charles E. Cooke, official greeter of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

him and they were rolled up at the bottom. He asserted he is in good health and has lost twenty pounds since his incarceration.

"Yes they got me just where it hurts," he said. "I'm glad nobody wants me to give out a statement, or anything like that. You knew before you talked to me that I would say that Getzoff is just a liar and a scoundrel. I can't do anything about it. I am playing my end of the game."

"I am not resigned to anything and I am not resentful toward anyone. I am just hooked and cannot do anything about it. I am not guilty and always will say so. I have seen all of them fall away from me, and I expect a lot more to begin piling it on me, but as I said before, I'm hooked."

NO SYMPATHY ASKED

"I do not want any sympathy and there is nobody out there who will say that I have any coming. Of course, my family and I feel that I have something coming, but I am talking about the average citizen. They don't care. They feel that a man who has had brains enough to be in the District Attorney's office should have sense enough not to get tangled up with a gang of politicians."

But with me the question is to get out of here. I have told the same story. The rest have told a dozen stories. I do not want any sympathy. I do not want any help. I do not want any one to think I am crying."

"I don't think I have ever publicly called a man bad names, but Getzoff is crazy. His statements are untrue and I cannot do anything about it."

In the meantime Dist. Atty. Pitts is preparing a resumption of the investigation of the Julian Petroleum scandal immediately after the new grand jury is convened. The District Attorney's office expects the new jury will be selected this week.

If Getzoff is able to leave the hospital he will be among the first witnesses to be examined in the new angles on the bribery investigation. The District Attorney is guarding the names of persons who may be named in the new charges.

APPEALS COURT

REBUKES JUDGE

Strong Denunciation Aimed at Justice Wilson

Remarks Made on Bench in Burglary Trial Scored

Argument in Van Cleave Case Reviewed at Same Time

A scathing rebuke of the conduct of Superior Judge Wilson, growing out of remarks made by him in connection with the trial for burglary of Dallas O. Van Cleave, was contained in an order, rendered by Presiding Justice Works, in the District Court of Appeals, reversing the judgment of the Superior Court, which held Van Cleave guilty. The order was rendered by Justices Craig and Johnson.

The judgment of the court was based on errors ascribed to Judge Wilson, and particularly to his action in permitting admission of fingerprint evidence on file at police headquarters, which had been admitted to have been taken before the burglary for which Van Cleave was being tried.

OPINION CRITICIZED

Judge Wilson, the opinion charges, in considering the form of the complaint under which Van Cleave was to be tried and in determining to admit evidence on file at police headquarters, the opinion charged, referred to the opinion of one of the divisions of the District Court of Appeals in a contemptuous manner. It seems to me, the opinion charged, that the division which rendered the opinion referred to, was not entitled to be so treated, and for that reason I will decline entirely to follow the opinion of the division.

The remarks were unethical, the judge charged, in that they were made by employing that which was the opinion rendered by the division, and in that they were made by the judge, who was not entitled to do so.

The judge's remarks, "be-cause the courts practically never make such a mistake," the opinion charged, were unethical, in that they were made by the judge, who was not entitled to do so.

Speedy Eradication of Foot-and-Mouth Disease Brings Forth Praise

To celebrate the lifting of the foot-and-mouth disease quarantine in Southern California, a meeting of live-stock men and interested county, state and government officials was held in the live-stock pavilion at the stockyards yesterday.

Dr. R. M. Hurt, county live-stock inspector, presided, and the meeting was addressed by County Supervisor Shaw. It was pointed out that modern scientific methods of killing infected animals, and imposing strict quarantine in infected areas, have resulted in a remarkably swift eradication of the disease.

The recent outbreak cost Los Angeles county only $7400, whereas during the outbreak of 1924 the county was forced to spend $230,000 in combating the ravages of the plague.

Supervisor Shaw's address included warm words of praise for the field workers of the county live-stock inspection department, which is under Supervisor Shaw's direction.

The foot-and-mouth disease is endemic in Europe, and some parts of Asia, but never has obtained permanent foothold in the United States. It was introduced into Los Angeles county the last time through infected garbage taken from a ship in the harbor to a hog farm near Hynes.

Many Expected at Hotel Men's Dance Tonight

More than 1000 guests, including the presidents of 100 leading civic and religious organizations of the city, are expected to attend the annual entertainment and dance in the Elks' Temple, Sixth street and Park View avenue, at 6:30 o'clock this evening, in celebration of the twelfth anniversary of the Co-operative Apartment-House and Hotel Association of Los Angeles.

President J. Bruce Goddard will preside as toastmaster and introduce as the principal speakers Representative Craig and Judge Collier. There will be a program of entertainment. Dancing will follow.

Members of the association are said to house more than one-fifth of the entire population of Los Angeles. T. C. Smith is secretary of the party and of Arnold's moody conduct during the evening. "Arnold took one of the guests home and then came back," she declared. "I don't know what it was, but I was afraid I asked Officer Mathes, the only remaining guest, to stay awhile longer because I was frightened at George's conduct."

She then related the story of the slaying, how she and Baab were in the kitchen when Arnold appeared in his door and started shooting without provocation.

Motorcycle Officer Mathes corroborated her testimony and told how he knocked the pistol from Arnold's hand and placed him under arrest. Three other guests at the party testified that Arnold appeared moody during the evening but that there was no apparent cause for the shooting.

MOUNTAIN LION BEFRIENDED

Naturalist Says Killer Must Not be Exterminated; Denies Varmint Dangerous to Man

California, as well as other Western States, is going a bit too far in its determination to exterminate the mountain lion, according to Arthur Newton Pack, president of the American Nature Association and secretary of the American Tree Association.

"I do not mean by that," he said, at the Biltmore yesterday, "that the lion shouldn't be kept down. But they should not be exterminated, for they do a world of good in a most unusual way. And mountain lions are not the marauding killers of stock that we are led to believe. True, an old, toothless male, no longer capable of hunting his natural prey, will kill helpless cattle for his dinner occasionally, but the destructiveness of the lion is greatly exaggerated," Mr. Pack said.

KILLED LOST CHILD

"Nor is the mountain lion as dangerous to human safety as one would think. I know of only one substantiated report where a lion killed and chewed a human being. This was up in Oregon and the victim was a little lost child. But the lion, it proved, was an old, toothless veteran, no longer capable of hunting his dinner in the approved lion fashion. Of course, any animal is dangerous at times. Bears go berserk and eat sheep occasionally. And even a mouse, cornered, will bite at a human. But these stories of mountain lions lying in wait in trees to leap on a man passing underneath do not seem to have much foundation in fact."

Mr. Pack, in company with William L. Finley, nature writer, will go into the White Mountains of Arizona next week on a motion-picture hunt for lions, he announced. Mr. Pack is associate editor of Nature Magazine, of which his father, Charles Lathrop Pack, famous naturalist, is editor-in-chief. Finley is a writer for the same magazine.

MYSTERY IN

BAAB DEATH

UNSOLVED

Arnold Hearing Fails to Disclose Slaying Motive; Defendant Held for Trial

No motive for the shooting of Police Sergeant R. Carleton Baab by George S. Arnold, his confessed slayer, was revealed yesterday at Arnold's preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge McMill on murder charges. At its conclusion he was ordered held without bail to await trial by Superior Court.

Arnold, for years a close friend of Baab and a resident of his home at 700 Lodi avenue, shot the officer early on the morning of March 25, last, following a party, celebrating Baab's wedding anniversary and birthday.

Mrs. Baab, the widow, was the first witness called by Dep. District Attorney Stahman. She told of the party and of Arnold's moody conduct during the evening. "Arnold took one of the guests home and then came back," she declared. "I don't know what it was, but I was afraid I asked Officer Mathes, the only remaining guest, to stay awhile longer because I was frightened at George's conduct."

She then related the story of the slaying, how she and Baab were in the kitchen when Arnold appeared in his door and started shooting without provocation.

City Officials

of South Gate

Lose Bond Fight

Three petitions for a writ of mandamus to compel Mayor Schohy and City Treasurer Shope of South Gate to turn over $346,000 worth of bonds approved by the electors of the municipality to the purchasers of the paper were granted late yesterday by Superior Judge Tappan.

The petitioners, electors of South Gate, are P. C. Moore, August Jorgensen and Sherry Yahn.

The bond issue was passed in an election December 28, 1928. The money raised by the issue is to be expended in the improvement of a water system in districts Nos. 1, 2 and 3. The bonds were purchased by Miller Vossberg & Co.

The plaintiffs assert that following the passage of the bond issue the defendants city officials refused to sign them and turn them over to the purchasing bond concern on the grounds there were technical errors in the election petition.

COMMISSION TO STUDY

NEW HARBOR BILL

A request by the Port Commission of Oakland that the Los Angeles Harbor Commission shall ignore the bill of Senator Carter which provides for an amendment to extend jurisdiction of the California Railroad Commission over persons performing wharfing services on docks or wharves in California ports was referred to General Manager Edwards for an investigation and report by the Harbor Commission yesterday. At present, it was explained, the authority of the California Railroad Commission on rates and charges on San Francisco Bay does not extend to the board of Harbor Commissioners of the port of Los Angeles.

LAUDS BILLBOARD FIGHT

Mr. Pack is combining a vacation with a study of roadside beautification in California, and has just returned from Santa Barbara, where, he declares, the fight against roadside billboards and other unsightly obstacles is setting an example for other communities of the State to follow.

"The newspaper and not the beautiful countryside is the proper place for advertising," Mr. Pack declared.

Regarded as an international expert on tree and forestry preservation, Mr. Pack criticized the Federal government for the many forest fires of past years in California, and declared many due to inadequate forest patrol services. He has studied forest conservation in Belgium, Germany, England and France, and has a war record with the American army, from which he was discharged as a captain at the close of the war.

Miss Lida Kolberg is president of the local chapter of the organization, of which James Eads How is honorary president. Intercub Team Champions Begin Playoff for Peter Cooper Bryce Trophy Saturday

LOS ANGELES DEFENDS CUP

Girard Tackles Flintridge in Feature Match

Wilshire Defeats Bel-Air, 5-1-2 Points to 1-1-2

Hollywood Invitation Play Reaches Semifinals

By Edward Lawrence
Los Angeles Country Club, holder of the Peter Cooper Bryce trophy, emblematic of the interclub team match championship, automatically won the title in group seven yesterday, when the Wilshire Country Club defeated Bel-Air, 5-1-2 to 1-1-2. Wilshire could have tied Los Angeles for the championship by winning all seven matches, but yesterday's result gave Los Angeles first place with 24 points, while Bel-Air, second with 22 1/2 points and Lakeland scored 21 for third place.

Play-off matches are scheduled to start Saturday morning, according to the tournament committee from George T. Chase, chairman of the team matches committee.

Girard, winner of the first group title, meets Flintridge, second group champion, at 10:30 Saturday morning in the Lakeland event. Both clubs have strong teams and the match should be the feature.

San Diego, winner of group three, and Virginia, group four, will meet on the north course of the Los Angeles Country Club Saturday morning. Virginia won the title from Fox Hills yesterday.

On Sunday morning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the Girard-Flintridge winner meets the winner of the Virginia-San Diego match at Wilshire.

San Gabriel will be the scene of another first-round match Saturday morning between Mountain View and San Gabriel, winners of the two matches held at Wilshire.

Mrs. Hammond, Mrs. Cook defeated yesterday, 3-1, by Mrs. C. E. Delaney and Miss Hazel Converse in a quarter-final match of the Hollywood invitation tournament.

The winners shot a best ball of 84 against a best ball of 87, and the victory goes down on the books as a decisive upset.

For the second time in two days, Mrs. C. A. Herberts and Mrs. C. E. Francis were defeated on the sixteenth hole. They lost yesterday to Mrs. J. A. Valer and Mrs. L. H. Rhodes in a defeated eight match.

Semifinal matches are scheduled for this morning with the final tomorrow.

Following are yesterday's results:

Card Gridders Hold Workout

STANFORD UNIVERSITY. April 3.—Pop Warner had sixty-one football prospects working out today in the first spring quarter football practice session. The men were given elementary formations to go through the back fields and lines practicing separately. The usual cheerful tuck of the players was noticeably absent today because rain poured down and Pop decided against using the ball.

GOLDIE HESS TAKES NOD OVER ANDERSON

Goldie Hess added another win to his string last night at the Ocean Park Arena by defeating Clark Anderson over the eight-round route. In the six-round semi-final, Leonard Allen and Harold Highsmith went the limit to a draw. Tommy Smith beat Frankie O'Neil in the four round special event. The two four-round preliminaries both resulted in technical knockouts. Ritchie Aguayo winning from Marvin Bobo in the fourth, while Big Hutchison stopped Joe Robinson in the second round of the opener.

BOLO FINISHES UP MANCILLAS IN THIRD

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3. (AP)—batting Bolo Manilla lightweight, knocked out Joe Mancillas of Los Angeles in the third round of the ten-round main event at National Hall here tonight.

GRANDETTE STOPS WATSON

PENDLETON (Or.) April 3. (AP)—Frankie Grandette, Hollywood, Cal., knocked out Jimmie Watson, Portland, in the ninth round of a ten-round main event here tonight. They are bantamweights.

RABBIT PUNCHES

HIS BEST FIGHT

TOD MORGAN can weave a lot of interesting stories about the fourteen fights for which he has made title poundage. And he may have another to relate after the championship bout with Santiago Zorilla at the Olympic tonight.

One deals with a no-decision bout he had with Johnny Kochansky in Jersey City back in 1926. Joe Jeannette, the old fighter, was the referee.

At the end of the sixth round Jeannette went to Morgan's corner. "Peg it up, kid, you can do better than that," he said.

Morgan figured he was winning handily, but he complied with Jeannette's command in the seventh round and stepped on the gas. He floored Kochansky just before the bell.

Much to his amazement, Jeannette again stepped over to the corner between rounds. "That's better, now let's see what you can do next round."

Morgan swarmed all over his man in the eighth, but did not floor him. Jeannette "rode" him again. "Say, what does that guy want?" demanded Ted of his manager, Frank Churchill.

"Guess he thinks you're not fighting," said Churchill. "You'll have to knock this guy out."

Over came Jeannette. "This is the last round," he snapped. "Now show me that you're a real champion."

Out went Morgan at the start of the round. Boom went a left hook. Down went Kochansky. Up he came at nine, and hung on desperately. Morgan wrestled and tugged, and Kochansky hugged till his head cleared.

He raced about the ring with Morgan in pursuit. Finally Morgan cornered him. Boom went another left hook, and Kochansky reeled into the ropes. Morgan looked dejectedly at Jeannette to stop the bout. "Speed it up," snapped Jeannette.

Morgan surged to the attack again, and then providence in the form of a short bell saved a better foe. A merciful time-keeper shortened the round to two minutes.

Jeannette came to Morgan's dressing-rooms after the fight. "Say, kid, you're a real fighter. I heard a lot about you, but I never saw you fight until tonight. You were beating that guy so easily I just wanted to see how much you had on the ball."

Morgan says it was his best fight.

A DISTRESSING SITUATION

SHADES of California's Blue and Gold!

What has happened to the track-and-field forces under the veteran Walter Christie's command?

Where are the successors to the California track teams that swept the I.C.A.A.A. fields for three years running—1921, 1922, 1923?

The teams that sank all opposition on the Coast—best Stanford hands down and overwhelmed Southern California.

Yes, where are they, echo voices from Berkeley?

The Bears were beaten indignantly by the Trojans last week—buried under the heaviest score a Southern California squad ever registered over the Bears.

And this was to be a California year on the track—Walt Christie stood on the Rose Bowl field before the annual New Year's Day game and told us so.

"We'll beat Stanford this year," quoth Walt.

Undoubtedly, the wish was father to the thought, but Walt's team not only won't beat Stanford, but it couldn't turn back the Trojans, the underdogs in Saturday's "big meet" with Stanford at Palo Alto.

The Bears haven't defeated Stanford for five long years on the track. And they are in for their sixth straight licking two weeks hence. Not even the proverbial fighting chance ahead.

Shades of California's Blue and Gold!

Has it come to this?

GLOOM FROM STANFORD

THE sudden affliction of Eric Krenz, Stanford's phenomenal discus thrower and shot putter, may have some decided bearing on Saturday's meet between the Cardinals and the Trojans at Palo Alto.

If Krenz can't compete his loss may swing the meet to the Trojans.

But if history holds true Krenz will be on deck. Pre-meet sick athletes are never sick on the day of a meet.

And if Krenz can't compete the meet isn't by any means a cinch for the Trojans. The Cards still have one-two in the dope books with Rothert and Forster in the shot and a probably one-two in the discus with McLeod and Tandy, who are said to have been hurling the platter consistently over 140 feet.

If these boys perform up to snuff Krenz's loss only means a two-point difference, and the Trojans have to make up more points than that to catch home in face of all the ten to fifteen-point margin scores that have eluded them.

The Cards are so strong on the field this year that one man's loss can't destroy their efficiency as a scoring machine, and there seems to be nothing under the sun that can stop them from grabbing their third straight I.C.A.A.A. championship in the I.C.A.A.A. games in the East this year.

STILL HAVE THE PUNCH

THE Stars won the old game yesterday, but there's nothing wrong with that. Angling wreck crew.

It tied the score in the eighth inning on three pitched balls—a homer by Webb, a single by Berger, and another homer by Tolson.

The homers dropped within a few feet of each other.

If the first two games are any criterion this is going to be a real civil war series—a battle to the bitter end.

The Angels won the first game by the margin of one run. The Stars took the second by the same slim edge. And today's another day.

DISCUS GIVES CARDS EDGE

Stanford Expects Clean Sweep in Platter Event Against Trojans at Palo Alto Saturday

BY BRAVEN DYER

(This is the fourth of a series of articles dealing with the Stanford-Southern California track meet to be held at Palo Alto Saturday. It is the most important dual engagement of the Coast season.)

The high jump in Saturday's meet defies "doping." About the only way to do, on the form shown by the athletes thus far, is to split the points, 4½ to each team. Originally we suspected that Bowen of Southern California would win but he hasn't been able to clear six feet. That undoubtedly means no undisputed first place for him—even though Stanford's jumpers are nothing to get excited about.

French is rated Stanford's best jumper, although Austin, who has been laid up, has cleared six feet on certain occasions. It seems likely that Bowen and French will tie for first and that Medi-son of Stanford and either Hill or Tringler of Stanford will split the lone digit which goes with third place.

Krenz, a colored boy, has come along rapidly. He tied for third in the California meet at St. Louis.

Of course, anything may happen in this event. Stanford really should be accorded no worse than an even break, though we think Bowen likely to win, because the Cards are performing on a home field and this often makes a difference.

Adding 4½ points to each team's total of yesterday brings the score 40½ to 41½ in Stanford's favor at the conclusion of ten events.

The discus looks like a clean sweep for Stanford, even in face of reports that Eric Krenz may not be well enough to compete. We are willing to wait, however, for the result will be on hand, score back or no score back. McLeod and Tandy have both been bettering their marks and now Harley Rothert has taken to sailing the platter and with pretty good success at that. He did 139 ft. against Washington.

Sark Kline and Dick Van Vleet of the Trojans have a chance of sneaking in here, although it is a slim one. The former did 138 ft. against California last week and might get a heavy some five or six feet better. This, of course, would give a present to the Trojans and slip into their hands a contribution on the part of either Kline or Van Vleet. The latter has yet to exceed 138 ft. in competition.

Both Kline and Van Vleet have shown tremendous improvement during the past few weeks and it is not at all impossible for one of them to slip into the top two places. But on the form displayed by all the boys this year you can't do other than award Stanford the discus. Result: Stanford, 55½; S. C., 43½.

As for the low hurdles—what looked like a possible clean sweep for the Trojans now shrinks to mere six and maybe only five. The failure of Jimmy Payne to return to form ruins the Southern California boys in this race and only the sudden drop of Ernie Payton, a relative of the other, saves Cromwell's team from taking a real thumping here.

Two Dual Meets Scheduled for This Afternoon

Minor City Preliminaries Tomorrow at L. A. High

Poly Mechanics Favored to Beat Hollywood

Bringing to a close the city high school dual track season, two dual meets are left on the prep schedule for this week-end. Two of the teams listed for today, while the others will be run off tomorrow. This afternoon's meets will be between Los Angeles High and Manual and Los Angeles High and Manual at Jefferson. Besides the Poly-Hollywood dual, the Los Angeles High and Manual dual is also scheduled for today. The preliminaries of the City League will also be run at Los Angeles High.

Although Jefferson came out to triumph the Poly runner and the strong runner, the latter was not able to keep his lead in the mile. The mile was won by the Poly runner, and the latter was not able to keep his lead in the mile.

More than 500 minor league athletes will compete in the preliminaries at Los Angeles High tomorrow. Harold Lovejoy's Fairfax Club has a slight edge on the rest of the teams entered, but the team of the Los Angeles High and Manual is also a strong contender.

The Poly-Hollywood dual tomorrow looks to be very close with the edge. The Poly runner has too many first men, having a good chance of first in every event except the quarter, half and mile.

SONNENBERG WINS BOUT

Ex-Dartmouth Football Star Defeats Stasiak in Straight Falls on Olympic Mat

Stasiak was completely out. Handers and Dr. L. R. Mace, the State athletic physician, worked over him several minutes each time to bring him back to the land of consciousness. At the end of the first fall he wanted to wrestle every one in the place when he regained his feet.

Although Dynamite Gus opened with the flying tackle and closed with it in between tackles he demonstrated various other forms of punishing holds. What he didn't know about the intricacies of the profession a year ago, he is learning rapidly.

And he always has the flying tackle to fall back upon.

ENTER THE CHARGE

With the opening bell last night he came charging across the ring. With one wild leap he left his feet and buried his head in Stasiak's stomach. The Pole hit the floor with a horrible grunt. Sonnenberg banded him once more and again the Pole grunted. He covered up and Sonnenberg gave the stinging idea for other measures, demonstrating a clever way of breaking the Pole's attempted rabbit punch by sheer strength. When Stasiak pulled up his arms to strike, Sonnenberg stuck his up, top, and held the Pole's aloft.

This was something new in local wrestling. One got a big cheer for the wrangler.

Just before the first fall arrived Stasiak clamped three headlocks in rapid succession on Sonnenberg. The champion got up woody each time, but after the third one he lashed out with flying tackle and bore him down. Twice more Sonnenberg repeated the measure, and the Pole was almost cold after the final assault.

FORMAL SLAM

Thereupon the champion picked him up with a crotch hold and body slammed him to the floor. It was just a formality. Stasiak offered less resistance than a pickled herring.

The second fall was just a romp for the champ. A series of flying tackles soon laid the Pole low, the body one never having regained full control of his faculties after the first fall. The champ was given an ear-splitting demonstration from excited fans when he left the ring.

The semi-wind-up of Carnation Lou Duro's show was almost as steam-heated as the main event. Dick Daviscourt substituted for a guy named Thompson and made faces and speeches at Don DeLaur for an hour. It was a draw.

Daviscourt was rough and so was DeLaur. Both wound up in blood-matted faces. Daviscourt had the edge in speeches and protests against rough treatment to the referee.

Waino Ketonen of the L.A.A.C. threw Young Goltz with a head scissor in 2m. 30s. and Oyda and Hagio Japanese boys, with a minute act of jiu-jitsu to complete the bill.

Zorilla was fighting for practically nothing tonight. Morgan was guaranteed $15,000 to defend his title. Zorilla gets nothing until the gate receipts pass a certain sum—40 per cent of all over $20,000. The capacity of the house is $30,000. If there is a sell-out, Zorilla will receive approximately one-third of what Morgan drops down.

The title is what Zorilla wants and wants bad. He is a busy fighter and he can capitalize on the championship. Fifty fights a year would be nothing to him. He likes to fight. He is young and rugged and tough. Morgan has been afflicted with physical ailments for the past two years. During that time he has fought but thirteen times.

WIKING IN TODAY

Tonight's fight was postponed from Tuesday because of a boll on Morgan's leg. The boll was lanced, and Morgan lost only one day's training.

The fighters weigh in this afternoon at the offices of the Boxing Commission. Each has a $2000 weight forfeit to make 130 pounds or under.

The probable weights are 129-14 for Morgan and 128½ for Zorilla.

Five weeks ago Morgan had fasted himself down to 123 pounds. He went eight days without food as an experiment, advised by Dr. Frank McCoy, an old physician of Freddy Webb's.

Zorilla scaled 132 pounds eight days ago when he stepped off the boat from Panama.

Baby Sal Sorio is additional lure on tonight's card.

If he can score one of those sensational knockouts like he has been doing, a Morgan title bout will be assured.

Sal has stopped seven straight with his present string.

The slugging Mexican goes ten rounds or less with Jimmy Fox. Not so long ago Fox was rated with the best. More recently he lost his stuff. But he's smart—willing to mix and might surprise Sal.

There's one disconcerting thing about the Baby. He has had nights when he has been in form, but before a championship crowd, it would be tough on the Olympic.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams has his gears higher right now as an attraction than ever before. Sal's fight is classic—win or lose.

The memory of the Joey Stasiak and Mike Waters thrillers isn't forgotten.

SAL SEEKS MORGAN

Morgan has already said "yes" to a title battle with Sal. The champion has his business eye on filling the Olympic from top to bottom with Mexican fans who want a title-holder of their own.

The rest of the supporting card shows the hard-nosed Charlie Greenberg and Tony Portillo in the six-round special. Greenberg is a damaging fighter—though in and out. But Greenberg has never fought properly. He has given himself a new deal of the cards and expects to get some place.

The two four and Luis Ramon vs. Wendell Long and Leo Hernandez vs. Frankie Burns.

Look this Hernandez over twice. He's a neat puncher and improving.

EMANUEL TOILS IN FIRST WORK

Kinney was sailing along beautifully until it started drizzling in the eighth. Evidently Walter isn't any relation to Chief Rain-in-the-Face, for he immediately lost his stuff as soon as the dew drops descended. Earl Webb pounded one into the blundering and reached second on Carley's tumble. Slug Tolson also picked on the first pitch and slammed home the run out into the bleachers to tie the count. Johns, at this juncture, came to Kinney's rescue and prevented any more Angel outbursts to obtain credit for the victory.

It looked as though the rain was "chillin' beef" on the tied bout, but the ninth was unaltered. The final stanza went to Rosenblom.

Maloney opened the final round with a wallop down the Western base for a walk on four straight hits. Bonowitz advanced the runners with a perfect sacrifice, Tolson to Jacobs. The pitcher, the leading hitter, was called off the coach.

Pikington is new here. He comes from New York, where he has been fighting fellows like Billy Wallace and Billy Petrolle. He looks like another Sammy Mandel in the gymnasium.

Weight lifting is now a recognized sport at the Los Angeles Athletic Club following the appointment this week of Joe Kirsbury as commissioner of the sport by the board of athletic governors.

but Mickey, after fouling off several, dribbled a single over second and the ball game was over.

The Angels had come from behind in the eighth to overcome a three-run lead on home runs by Earl Webb and Slug Tolson, the latter's with a man on base.

THREE ANGEL HURLERS

Los Angeles used three hurlers, starting in with Deacon Fitt, who was replaced by Peters, and winding up with Tex Weathersby on the mound. Walter Kinney stuck it out on the hitlock for the Shells until those home-run blasts of Webb and Tolson sent him to the showers and Red Johns, the southpaw, clinched from Earl Worth, finished the twirling deed.

The game was another of those typically Hollywood-Angel thrillers and the fans certainly got their money's worth, for there were sensational plays galore. The last two or three innings were played in a hail of hits and home runs.

The Angels landed on Kinney's knuckled balls for a couple of runs in the first inning, two hits and a walk putting across the tallies. Stasiak started the game by working Kinney for a walk. Johnny Butler laid down a bunt that caught Osenberg asleep and Kinney unable to field it, so the Seraph third-batter got a hit on the tap. Webb tried to sacrifice but Stasiak pounced on this bunt and slapped it to Osenberg in time to force Stasiak at third. Heger lined to Osenberg, who, in attempting to complete a double play, threw and hit Butler with the throw and the ball caromed out into center. Butler went to third and Webb to second.

King Tolson then poked a one-base shot over Lee's head out into left center and Kinney and Webb scored. Jacobs forced Tolson to end the inning.

Fitt held the Stars scoreless in the first two rounds, but ran into difficulty in the third when the Hollywood run came across. The Shells had scored at least one run but for some lack of running. Kinney started things going by slapping a single to center, but Lee lined to Stasiak. Kinney singled to center and Kinney was in his customary style to that territory, stopped at second.

Albert followed with a line single to right, scoring Kinney, but Osenberg, instead of going to third on the throw home, stopped at second. Albert, thinking Maloney had gone for third, continued to second and ran. Maloney off the throw home, stopped at second. Albert, thinking Maloney had gone for third, continued to second and ran. WAR LORD NOW INDUSTRIALIST

By Sidney Smith

Thus is enacted another of those heart-rending dramas—Utmost within call of each other, when a few words would bring the sun through the clouds of doubt and let the light of true love shine once again in these two lives—dear that each shall silently suffer, like a rounded ship that goes down in the fog while help is near at hand.

THESE EVER TRUE! OUR FONDEST HOPES ARE SHATTERED JUST WHEN THEY COULD BE SO EASILY FULFILLED.

FARE RISE PROTEST URGED

Council Gets Resolution Seeking United Action of Cities Against Red Car Increase

Concerted action by the cities of Los Angeles, Glendale, Burbank, Pasadena, South Pasadena and Long Beach to prevent the proposed fare increases asked by the Pacific Electric Railway is asked for in a resolution introduced in the City Council yesterday by Councilman Hall, which was referred to the Council's Public Utilities Committee.

The resolution asserts that the fare increases will "more than double the transportation costs for residents of the city of Los Angeles" and that "the increase in inter-urban fares will work a hardship upon thousands of commuters from near-by communities who work in Los Angeles."

It asks the Council to direct the City Attorney and the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation to oppose the increases and to invite the cities named and other cities, opponent and has in mind the eventual manufacture in China's own factories of hundreds of different articles, with more especial attention to goods for which iron is available in Asia. The dictator is keen on the industrial advancement of his country and personally owns a number of factories, including a plant for the manufacture of photographic supplies, a glass factory and cotton mills," Mr. Mitchell explained.

Despite this move toward peace-time neutrality, Mr. Mitchell was pessimistic over any soon cessation of the wars that disturb China.

More than a quarter of a century ago Mr. Mitchell left his home in Hartford, Ct., to accept a teaching post in China. He was formerly a professor of physics at Columbia University. For a number of years he was affiliated with the late Marshal Chang Tso-lin, who was killed three years ago in a bomb explosion near Moukden. Since that time he has been with the son as an adviser in a civil capacity.

COURT GETS FIGHT OVER RICH ESTATE

Two Daughters of Late Milwaukee Financier Ask Accounting by Brothers

Two sisters, Wilhelmine and Mathilda Waldeck, are in court before Superior Judge Stafford asking that their brothers, Adam and Joseph Waldeck, all of them children of the late Jacob Waldeck, Milwaukee financier, give a full accounting of the $250,000 estate left by their father.

Mrs. Josephine Waldeck Lippincott, another child of the family, is made defendant with the two brothers, because, according to the complaint, she refused to join with the plaintiffs in their suit.

The plaintiffs contend that in December, 1926, they discovered that their brothers had mismanaged the properties of the estate and converted some of it to their own use. This the defendants deny in their answer, asserting they have accounted for every dollar; also that they refused to accept any charge for their services in handling the estate.

Mrs. Lippincott in her separate answer as a defendant asserts she is satisfied with the accounting her brothers made and has no cause to become plaintiff in the action.

The garden is in Brentwood Heights, on Beverly Boulevard. The California Botanic Garden is now back with both cultivated and wild flowers.

THEOSOPHY HER CREED

"The soul alone is eternal and substantial," Mrs. Lamoreaux said. "Thoughts are born, reach maturity and die, but the thinker lives on. Dreams fade, but the dreamer lives forever."

The colors for her interesting paintings, Mrs. Lamoreaux believed, came from "another dimension, probably from the soul itself." She was a constant reader of The Times and kept a scrap book composed entirely of features, editorials and poems from The Times and The Times Magazine.

GRAND JURY POSTPONES FILM CASE

Federal Investigation of Asserted Combines Set for Tomorrow

After plans had been made for a special session of the Federal grand jury for yesterday, the meeting was postponed until tomorrow to investigate combines of some motion picture interests in Southern California.

The inquiry, which is in charge of John H. Amen, special assistant to the Attorney-General, was to have begun yesterday before the jury but it was postponed until tomorrow because of the additional time was needed to round out information already in hand.

Action already has been filed against nine leading producing and exhibiting companies for asserted violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act. This case is now pending in court. It is charged that the West Coast Theaters, Inc., and eight other companies conspired to violate the antitrust law by discriminating against independent exhibitors, especially those charging less than 10 cents for admission, those giving two features in one program or giving patrons prizes.

Sky Markers to be Urged

That the airway in Southern California may more easily identify the towns over which he is flying, every community is to be urged by the aviation committee of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce to have its name painted in large letters in some conspicuous location.

A survey by plane, donated for the purpose by the Union Oil Company, will be started Friday by representatives of the junior chamber. They expect to cover cities within a radius of 100 miles of Los Angeles. Pictures will be taken of the communities to show the ones now properly marked. Those cities that do not have adequate air markers will be asked to take steps to put themselves on the aerial map.

The New in Stores & Homes

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

No need to think thanks. Such a saving of gray matter! For now we may find printed cards expressing thanks for the gift, for the letter of condolence, for the almost everything. Cards congratulating the convalescent, cards telling of the baby's birth, of the anniversary of whatever sort—cards of thanks for even the thanks themselves, I suspect. Now if some kind print shop will formulate cards of condolence and cards congratulatory upon the last divorce we shall be saved all kinds of trouble. But some other kind one would be called upon to invent a card system for cards, for it would be an embarrassing faux pas if we were to send the wrong card—congratulations in lieu of condolences, etc.

Easter Left-Overs

Not only in the realm of habilliments are there Easter left-overs, but flowers, plants and bulbs are obtainable at fractional cost. Time to plant, and that at appreciable savings. And, who, possessing a bit of Mother Earth, can resist the Spring-time impulse, to start the garden growing?

All A Cotton

Always it has been the impulse of the youth to get into summer clothes, as early as possible. Earlier than the elders think wise, the young begin begging to doff the underthings to put on the trimmings of spring. Already one sees the cotton ensembles, for which the coming season is to be distinguished. Upon all sides one observes the printures in cotton, the dress, the accompanying coat, the airy hat. Pretty, too, they are and exceedingly dainty, so what if chilly breezes blow—the flappers are in this mode and that right early.

Pique

Ready to wear jackets of pique, in dainty colors and in white are to be had for the ensemble, at very small cost. And let us not forget that jackets and coats depend for chic upon excellence in finish in detail—requisites not easy of accomplishment at home.

Embroidered Coats

Among the most interesting commodities of the ensemble, is the separate coat, in harmonizing tint, but embroidered in contrast to the dress with which it is to be worn. Many such coats are in three-quarter length, although the short jacket has a vogue all its own, as have longer coats, according to the choice of the wearer. Such coats may be purchased separately, or the material for their accompanying may be found in yardage at the high class stores.

Springing Yellow

As the sun seems to manage transmutation of its rays into yellow flowers, at the event of spring, to fashion for us a penchant for the various sunny tints for early spring. Yellow, in many varying shades, now is blossoming in the leading stores and shops. Yellow ensembles, yellow coats, yellow jackets, yellow lingerie, yellow in millinery. And for the one who can assimilate this golden tone, yellow is extremely flattering; but for the one whose complexion is the reverse, a bad case of liver-complaint seems to afflict.

Celane

The recipe for its weaving has not been made public, but how welcome the yardage marked "washable," a legend accompanying those dainty creations in chiffon and voile, georgette and other seemingly evanescent fabrics. That they are "celane" is as certain as that they are far from as perishable as they look to be.

County Officials Look for Airport Bargains

San Gabriel Field Priced at $3,000,000 on Sale

Investigators Seem "Sold" on Advantages Shown

Los Angeles county may become the operator of one of the largest airports in the country, it was indicated yesterday, when three members of the Board of Supervisors took to the air for an inspection of the proposed $3,000,000 San Gabriel Valley site at El Monte.

SITE APPROVED

Although they made no statement as to the desirability of the county purchasing or leasing the site, they were optimistic in verifying the advantages of the proposed field as described in reports submitted to the Supervisors by Harry A. Schenck, civil engineer, and Don M. Baker, consulting engineer, and member of the City Planning Commission.

PRICE PROPOSALS

Operation of the site as an airport by the county can be assured under several plans, the report of the airport committee stated. The county can buy the acreage as it stands at $275 an acre, or can lease the site for approximately $175 an acre.

PONTIUS HOST

The party was taken to the site by D. W. Pontius, vice-president of the General manager of the Pacific Electric Railway, aboard his private car. Automobiles carried the party along the borders of the airport and then to Calles Field.

Officer Mitchell Wins Acquittal

Police Officer Joseph P. Mitchell was acquitted of charges of battery and disturbance of the peace at the conclusion of his trial yesterday before Municipal Judge Galbreath. He was accused by Felipe Ramirez, cement contractor, Ramirez charged that Mitchell beat him up when he attempted to tell the officer's car to tell him that he was about to lose a spare tire, while driving along First street on March 3, last.

NEW RULE ORDERED ON LOADING ZONES

On recommendation of its Traffic and Street Lighting Committee, the City Council yesterday instructed the City Attorney to amend the traffic ordinance by increasing the present fifty feet allowed for a passenger loading zone in any one block to sixty feet and also to give the police department the power to divide the fifty feet into two separate passenger loading zones as the block may require.

PROTESTS TO BE HEARD

Protests are scheduled to be heard by the City Council today against the ordinance of intention for the improvement of the following thoroughfares: Broadway, Fifth street, Country Club Drive and Pico Boulevard, Twentieth street between Long Beach and Compton avenues, carry little save the handicraft, a powder compact and, possibly, one or two equally dainty feminine accessories.

Scenes on Scales

The latest hand bags are of pallid, the scintillations fashioned into enlarged "scales," each overlapping the other, like the scales upon a fish. Some of course are their dainty but brilliant bags, for use with formal dress, and expected to carry little save the handkerchief, a powder compact and, possibly, one or two equally dainty feminine accessories.

James Cruze Makes Hecht Talker Signs Gaston Glass; Von Sternberg Gets New Contract With Paramount; Virginia Sale Signs for Big Universal Role

Important improvements at the Fox studios as well as the names of some new productions to be made on the Fox Movietone program were announced yesterday by Winfield R. Sheehan.

Four stages at the Fox studios on Western avenue are being made over into sound stages in anticipation of the big production schedule which will start immediately.

Will Rogers, lately signed by Fox Movietone, will arrive here at the end of June, as soon as his show, "Three Cheers," in which he replaced Fred Stone when Stone was injured in an aviation accident last fall, closes.

The famous humorist's first movie production will be a talking version of Homer Croly's novel, "They Had to See Paris." Owen Davis has been engaged to write the adaptation and dialogue of the production, but one can easily imagine that Rogers, who is to sit on the story and dialogue committee, will supply many of the clever lines. The story is one which should suit Rogers admirably. It is the story of a man who is a try-dweller who strikes oil, and who of course wants to join the crowd that goes to Europe.

Frank Borzage is to make his debut as a Movietone director by guiding Rogers in the picture.

Rogers has had an odd career in pictures. His genius was not particularly suited to the silent drama, except as to the writing of scintillating subtitles. He has a genius for satire, as everybody knows, and in the silent drama satire is somewhat a loss. Even so, it was impossible to entirely conceal the greatness of the man, and he was successful in a number of Samuel Goldwyn, Hal Roach and San Rork productions.

But it has been on the stage, with a chance to display his penetrating wit and originality of thought in monologues, that he has made his greatest success. He has been successful in a number of Samuel Goldwyn, Hal Roach and San Rork productions.

Other Fox Plans

George Jessel has also been signed by Fox Movietone, and will arrive in Hollywood from New York at the end of May. His first picture will be "The Hurdle," written by John B. Clymer and David Burton.

The "Passing of the Third Floor Back," a play by Jerome K. Jerome, which served Sir John Forbes Robertson as the stage during a few seasons, has been purchased by Fox. No one is yet assigned to the star role, although there is a hint that H. B. Warner may get it.

The talking rights to "Cradle Snatchers" have been secured also, and this will be one of the early Movietone productions.

A musical comedy expressly for Movietone is being written by De Sylva, Brown and Henderson; and another his production will be made from a story by Elinor Glyn.

JAMES CRUZE PLANS TWO BIG TALKIES

Now that James Cruze is all set with his own studio and production plant, he is quite ready to start casting for his first feature-length picture.

In fact, he is planning to make as far as his second picture, and in this connection it is interesting to note that he has signed Gaston Glass on a long-term contract.

The stories which Cruze will produce are both well known, one by Ben Hecht, of which he will be the writer, and the other is called tentatively "The Road Show."

The production will be a very important and spectacular one, to be made probably in nine reels, and having to do with theater life. It will have a huge chorus of fifty, a symphony orchestra and an all-star cast. Walter Woods is writing the scenario.

Gaston Glass will have the featured masculine role in the second Cruze production, which will be titled "The Soul of the Tango." The production, which is now being adapted for talking pictures, is based on a notable Spanish literary work entitled "Happiness Insurance," by Arthur S. Mom, well-known Argentine author.

In the meantime, the studios on Gower street lately purchased by Cruze are being renovated and laboratory fitted up for the making of talking pictures.

Cruze will probably use the RCA talking apparatus in his productions.

MARY'S DEBUT
IS AUSPICIOUS
"Coquette" Shows Her Great
Talents as Actress

Emotional Triumph Scored by Favorite Star

Interest Keen in Premiere
Despite Rainy Evening

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT
 She is a great actress. Mary Pickford proved this beyond a doubt last evening. Traffic tie-ups, delays in the start of the show, notwithstanding, she conquered. She is in a new phase of her career, and it is rich with both interest and promise. As she pioneered in the silent medium to success unequalled, so has she entered on a new path to triumph.

"Coquette" is the picture, and it is, as the popular designation goes, all talking. It brings Miss Pickford to the screen in a role unlike any that she has ever played previously. It discloses her changed in appearance by virtue of her bobbed hair. It demonstrates that she has a voice of lovely timbre, and that she knows how to use it with excellent taste, and even more definite discretion.

This picture had its first showing last night at the United Artists Theatre. The premiere was distinctively brilliant. No downtown premiere in recent months has equaled it. There were throngs on the streets, sight-seers, star-watchers, some up to their eyes in water to observe the pageantry of stellar arrivals. There was glamour within theater doors of the professionally prominent. The tribute was one of the most distinguishing paid any star, considering especially the persistence of rain, which seemed to cause no lessened enthusiasm, and despite that the arrival of Mary and Doug, delayed as they were by traffic congestion, did not occur until nearly 10 o'clock.

"Coquette" is a short picture, but it is dynamic. The force and power that it possesses emotionally cannot be related. Its last reels are immensely moving. They are big in heart-assailing drama. Certainly they surpass anything that the silent film has ever offered. There are no talkies thus far that have been half so potent, and certainly none anywhere near as poignant, except possibly a few months ago. All of which is to say that the picture is a masterpiece of the new art.

From the standpoint of its effect upon an audience, "Coquette" completely justifies the use of the new art. It evidences the shrewdness of its star in making the transition to this medium. She will accumulate new admirers. Her old following will view her as a completely altered person, and except for lingering sentiment will relish the change of personality.

I think the finest feature of her work is the intelligence that she displays in her induction of words—the remarkable nuance that she gives them. Those of us who know how her voice sounds from hearing her speak in person, were particularly astonished by the range and cadence that she possesses. Perhaps, this is the benefit of past stage training. More likely, though, it is an accumulated experience, which would enable her quickly to grasp the inner secret of appealing to so baffling and unresponsive a thing as a microphone.

All this that I have written thus far might, in a strict sense, be construed as a criticism. Indeed, in estimating the manifestations of the talking picture, these days, one can scarcely resist criticisms but rather news stories. This is a feverish, an altering period. Each debut decides the question only—what have you to give to this innovation?

So far, "Coquette" as a production in the old sense of that word, to view it as a piece of art, creation of esthetic principle, or lacking in this, would be at this stage impossible. It is simply one of the cornerstones in a new motion picture history.

If you have succumbed to this growing influence of the film with voice, you will regard it as an achievement. You will find it an unquestioned step in the direction of smoother story telling in the new form. You will discover that the limitations of that form have been well comprehended and most excellently combated.

The audience which saw the picture gave unqualified testimony of its approval in applauding Miss Pickford for her intense dramatic scene following the death of her lover. She flung herself into this without conventional restraints, and made it something tremendous in scope and feeling.

Her portrayal throughout was positive. Only perhaps occasionally was the southern accent, which she adopted, a bit elusive. Yet even that she kept a very delicate overtones of the entire performance.

Those who know the play "Coquette" will not find the plot of the original preserved intact. It is close to that original in many moods, but there are some distinct alterations. However, that does not make "Coquette" any less adult. Decidedly, it is that in comparison with any other film that its star has made.

There are most commendable performances. The primary spotlight shines on Johnny Mack Brown of those appearing with Miss Pickford. Several times, when opportunity presented itself, was he applauded for his efforts. His future looks auspicious. Matt Moore in a quiet and well characterized role is exceedingly worthy. Another success looming favorably, John St. Polis reveals a distinguished manner as a southern doctor. He speaks with splendid enunciation. Janney adds cleverly to the comedy.

"The Duke" Meets a Co-ed

Joan Crawford
 Appears as the co-ed opposite William Haines in the new part-talking film which opens today at Loew's State. Its name is "The Duke Steps Out."

"IT" TALKS AT PARAMOUNT
 "It" talks—starting today.
 "It," of course, is what Clara Bow is popularly supposed to be the personification of. The star makes her audible debut today at the Paramount Theatre in "The Wild Party."

"The Wild Party" is a story of college life told in the most unpolished movie fashion, with Clara Bow failing to save her dear old alma mater from a disastrous fate. The picture is a story of college life told in the most unpolished movie fashion, with Clara Bow failing to save her dear old alma mater from a disastrous fate.

Additional Fox Theaters Show Popular Talkie
 Announcement was made yesterday by Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theaters, that the circuit has acquired the Dolan circuit of theaters in the far Northwest. Ten houses, all in the State of Washington, are in the deal.

As the opening attraction for the new circuit William Fox will present "SpeakEasy," 100 per cent talking picture of New York. The fact that "SpeakEasy" was selected for simultaneous presentation in the ten theaters, even over "Old Arizona" and "Hearts in Dixie," is considered a compliment for the Fox Criterion attraction.

The following are the newly acquired theaters which will play "SpeakEasy": D. & R. Dream, Bijou and Welr, in Aberdeen; Grand and Liberty in Centralia; St. Helen and Liberty in Chehalis; Liberty and Hoquiam in Hoquiam.

HEALTH and DIET
ADVICE
By Dr. Frank McCoy

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclusive stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

DRIED FRUITS
Dried fruits were an important addition to the food supply of many of the American Indians during the winter months and they practiced the drying of apples, berries and other fruits many years before the coming of the white man.

If you have eaten properly dried fruit you have noticed that its flavor is richer than the fresh fruit. The secret of this wonderful flavor is because the fruits for drying are allowed to become fully ripe before being picked, while most of the fruits shipped to market in the fresh state must be picked while partly green. Most of the finest food and flavoring materials of the fruit are produced in the last day or two before perfect ripeness is reached, and fruit picked before this time never attains the same flavor.

The fruit may be either sun-dried in warm localities or dried in dehydrating plants especially built for the purpose. Either of these methods is quite wholesome. Some of the fruit, such as prunes, are dipped in lye to facilitate the peeling of the fruit or to soften the skin so that the moisture will evaporate. This lye solution does not injure the fruit because it is carefully removed by rinsing in pure water. However, many fruits are subjected to fumigation with sulphur fumes. This adds a small amount of sulphuric acid to the fruit and while it gives keeping qualities, I believe it is a bad practice from a health standpoint, and therefore recommend the unsulphured fruits.

The sulphured fruit also has a slightly acid flavor that is not present in the unsulphured. It is very desirable as a means of satisfying their craving for sweets. Dried figs, dates, raisins, and prunes are known and used throughout the world. However, there are a number of other fruits which are less known but equally as valuable in a dried state.

In this country we use considerable quantities of dried peaches, apricots, pears, apples, nectarines and currants, but it is also possible to dry cranberries, raspberries, rhubarb, cherries, persimmons, mangoes, bananas and a number of other fruits. In some cases, as in the bananas, the drying produces a distinct change of the flavor nevertheless quite palatable and nutritious.

I believe that the time will come when the public will demand and be given an unsulphured fruit just as in the past the demand for whole-wheat bread has been built up by the general recognition of its advantages.

The dried fruits do not contain as much acid as the fresh fruits because as the fruit acids are reduced, they are slowly transformed into sugar by the ripening process. The dried fruits are excellent energy foods and at the same time are useful for increasing the alkalinity of the body.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Friedrich's Astoria
Question: A. O. writes: "I have a boy 15 years of age who has been diagnosed as Friedrich's Astasia. When I asked this doctor about it he told me to read up on it, but I have been able to find very little about it. I will appreciate any information you can give me."

Answer: This is a hereditary disease in most cases. There are changes in the spinal cord and cerebellum causing them to be smaller than usual. The walk is swaying and irregular, resembling that of a drunken person. In making voluntary movements the action is exaggerated and the hand sometimes moves around the object and then pounces upon it. There are also cases where the body sways in a regular movement. The speech is slow or explosive, the expression is dull, but the mental power is usually maintained in the early part of the disease. The patient may walk on the outside of the feet. This disease is usually considered incurable, but some beneficial results can be obtained through muscle re-education by training the patient to perform complicated muscular feats. I believe that a fast-acting and dieting regime might prove helpful as the disease somewhat resembles hereditary chorea, and I have had several cases of this latter trouble which responded to this method of treatment. I will be glad to send you instructions if you will write again, enclosing a large self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Has Extra Toe
Q: O. M. K. writes: "On my right foot I have six toes. This sixth toe gives me a lot of bother. I can't wear a shoe comfortably on that foot and I can't walk any distance. What would you advise?"

A: The best policy may be to have the extra toe removed by a competent surgeon.

STANDARD AIR LINES
ORDERS GIANT PLANES

Jack Frye, president of Standard Air Lines, announced last night his company had placed an order with the Fokker Aircraft Corporation of America for a fleet of Fokker F-10 monoplane capable of carrying fourteen passengers, two pilots and 1000 pounds of cargo and that it is planned to place these air liners in service between Los Angeles and El Paso. The first two of the ships are to be delivered in July and it is expected they will be in service of the El Paso run about August 1. Standard Air Lines established an air passenger route between Los Angeles, Phoenix and Tucson on November 28, 1927. It extended the line to Douglas and El Paso on February 4, last. Heretofore it has used comparatively small cabin planes.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

TEACHING COURAGE
By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

The big shredale came bounding into the room and in an ecstasy of doggie affection jumped at Betty and knocked her down. Betty was only 3, and about as distressed and impending shower of tears were plain on her face. "Look," said somebody, "she's afraid of the dog."

"No, she isn't," said her mother quickly. "She likes him. She knows he's sorry he knocked her down. See—he's trying to make it up to her now." And Betty, reassured by her mother's still, stretched out her hand to pat the frantically affectionate woolly head.

Thus Betty's mother saved the day. Had Betty's fear been reinforced not only by the attitude of those about her, but also by that of her mother, she might well have carried from the experience the beginning of timidity and fearfulness.

Little children, like chameleons, take on the color of their environment. The feelings suggested by the adults about them, particularly by those of whom they are fond, become their own. If we would teach a child to be courageous, we ourselves must be brave, and we must assume courage in the child.

When some accident occurs the child looks to see how it is being taken by mother or nurse, who is to him, at once a bulwark of security and an interpreter of a difficult world. If she registers courage, unconcern, and well being, so does the child. If she shows fear, apprehension and distress, so will he.

It is one thing to be aware that children learn their virtues and vices by watching us, but quite another to have the self-consciousness to react quickly in an emergency. Yet unless we can learn to react on the spot as did Betty's mother, we cannot teach the lesson we would have them learn.

CAMERAMAN HELD GUILTY OF VIOLENCE

Burdick Faces Term in Penitentiary for Offense Against Actress's Secretary

Ralph D. Burdick, 28-year-old motion-picture cameraman, yesterday was convicted by Superior Judge Murray of attempting to commit a statutory offense against Mrs. Nettie Veyer, secretary to Lois Wilson, stage and screen actress.

Burdick is asserted to have seized Mrs. Veyer the night of February 11, last, as she alighted from a Hollywood bus on her way home from a theater where Miss Wilson was playing.

According to testimony in the case, Burdick dragged Mrs. Veyer a distance of several yards, tore her clothing and bruised her.

Following the conviction of Burdick, S. S. Hahn, defense counsel, moved that the degree of the offense be reduced to assault with intent to do great bodily harm, but Judge Murray denied the motion.

Under the court's findings, Burdick faces a penitentiary sentence of from one to fourteen years. He will serve his term at the county jail for two months.

Miss Wilson was one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution, which was conducted by Dep. Dist. Atty. Aggeler.

Wholesale arrests and the wiping out of disorderly houses operating under the guise of chiropractic institutions are planned by the State Chiropractic Board as the result of a two-months' investigation into the situation here.

In the first step of the board's campaign launched last night four so-called chiropractic offices were raided and seven women were taken into custody charged with operating disorderly houses and vagrancy.

Dr. Gertrude Howe, 45 years of age, who gave her home address as 1121 Grand Vista, and three other women were arrested in a raid of Dr. Howe's office at 430 South Western avenue. Marjorie Miller, 36, who gave her occupation as nurse, and Mrs. Ellen Hansen, 32, were taken in the same raid.

In quick succession the raiding party arrested Adelaide Foreman, 31, 711 Garland street; Mrs. J. West, 28, 307 West Tenth street; Dr. Virgil Dawson, 28, and Jessie Spencer, 25, at 3081 West Seventh street. Dr. Dawson was indicted for operating an "office" while Mrs. Spencer was charged with vagrancy.

Two months ago Inspector Humason of the State board began an exhaustive investigation into the take of chiropractic offices asserted to be operating in numbers here, and accumulated evidence that police say will result in several scores of arrests.

Officers Bergman, Von Moore, Welch and McCarthy of the Central station vice division aided the State officer in the raids.

POLICE FIND DYNAMITE PLAN TOLD AT INQUIRY

Cement Concern Would Haul Explosives in Beverly

Question Discussed During Rock Plant Hearing

Company Expert Scouts at Fear of Residents

The prospect of trucks loaded with 10,000 pounds of dynamite wending their way through Beverly Boulevard residential districts to the proposed rock-crushing activities of the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company added considerable spirit of conversation last night to the City Planning Commission hearing on the company's request for a permit to operate.

The transportation of the high explosive was discussed during the cross-examination of Robert Gordon, produced by the cement organization as an expert on blasting operations near the works of the limestone quarry.

Gordon previously had testified that some 70,000 pounds of explosive would be needed to tear down the face of the quarry, and was being examined on different phases of this activity by Attorney Smiley, Verge and Siegfried, representing protesters against the permit to operate.

"Well, how would you get this powder up to the quarry?" asked Attorney Smiley.

"Why, I'd put it on trucks, loaded with the necessary placards, and haul it up," declared the blasting man.

"Handle it like leaves of bread," commented Smiley.

"No, like canned goods," said Gordon. "Five tons at a time, if I was doing it."

"Isn't it a fact that most people are afraid of dynamite?" continued the attorney.

"Yes, scared stiff," admitted the witness, after some argument.

He declared that there was little chance of a vehicle loaded with powder colliding with other because people observing such placards give trucks wide berth.

SAYS DYNAMITE SAFE Despite the general opinion, however, Gordon maintained the transportation of dynamite relatively is safe and could be handled after residents become familiar with the activity their fears will cease.

"It's just a matter of time until they are afraid of it," said Smiley, with sarcasm.

The attorneys for the protesters then launched what obviously was an attack on Gordon's ability to qualify as an expert on the use of powder. Under questioning, the witness admitted that he knew little of the chemistry of dynamite, but a bit of powder, and is not a geologist. He still was under fire of cross-examination when the hearing adjourned until next Tuesday's session was adjourned.

Last night's session was enlivened further by a controversy as to whether the protesters will be enabled to enter the hold of the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company that their experts might attempt to gather data to rebut the assertions of company witnesses.

ATTORNEYS BARRED Attorney Siegfried declared that he has been denied a pass to the grounds, and Attorney Verge said that armed guards stopped him from entering. Attorney Smiley asked the commissioners to request the attorneys to be barred from representing the permit seekers, to grant the requests to enter the land.

Attorney Overton declared that it has always been the policy of the company to deny the public access to the territory because of fire hazards, but that if the protesters appear they will be allowed to enter accompanied by a guide or warden. When objection was made to having a company employee follow the opposing experts alone, Attorney Overton declared they might get a county fire warden, but some responsible fire fighter they must have.

Mrs. Mary Fraser Darcy, prominent Eastern Star officer, died yesterday at her home, 213 South Maple Drive, Beverly Hills. Heart disease was the immediate cause of death. She was 77 years of age.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday from the Central chapel, 1229 South Hope, followed by burial in Inglewood cemetery. Mrs. Darcy leaves her husband, Thomas Darcy, a son, Fred Darcy; two daughters, Mrs. Estelle Orr and Mrs. Leah Adams; a grand-daughter, Mrs. Lorraine Adams; and a sister, Mrs. Ella Mitchell. She was a sister of the late Alexander Fraser, founder of Ocean Park.

Mrs. Darcy was born in New Brunswick and later lived in Michigan. She came to California thirty-four years ago, first living at Montebello, where she organized the Montebello Women's Club. She was a member of the Progress Club of Los Angeles and was first mistress of the Eastern Star. The chapter will assist at the funeral services.

Ground Will Be Broken for New Masonic House

With high dignitaries of State and local districts of the Masonic lodge participating in the ceremony ground will be broken Saturday for the $150,000 Masonic Club building adjoining the new campus of the University of California at Los Angeles. It will mark the second function of the week, the Y.W.C.A. officials having launched the construction of a Y.W.C.A. clubhouse.

Both buildings are designed for the convenience and comfort of students of U.C.L.A. and both will be ready for occupancy in September.

Gustaf Hufat, Grand Master of the California district, F. and A. M., will preside at the rites Saturday. The program will begin at 2 p.m. The program will include a luncheon, social hour, and a small auditorium. It is situated on a block of the campus proper, and is intended to serve as a recreational headquarters for students and faculty of the university who have Masonic affiliations.

NEW BARRACKS
SITE SELECTEDCongressmen Notified of Sawtelle ActionLocation on San Vicente
Boulevard ChosenMilitary Homes Board Head
Reports on Plan

The new barracks which Congress has authorized at the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle will be located in the western portion of the reservation facing San Vicente Boulevard, members of the California delegation in Congress were notified yesterday by George H. Wood, president of the board of managers of the National Military Homes, according to dispatches.

Another site formerly selected has been abandoned because of protests, Wood said. His letter to California members of Congress follows: "The board of managers have just returned from a visit to the Pacific branch at Sawtelle, and while there received delegations from Cook camp and other camps, and made a very careful study as to the question of location of the new barracks."

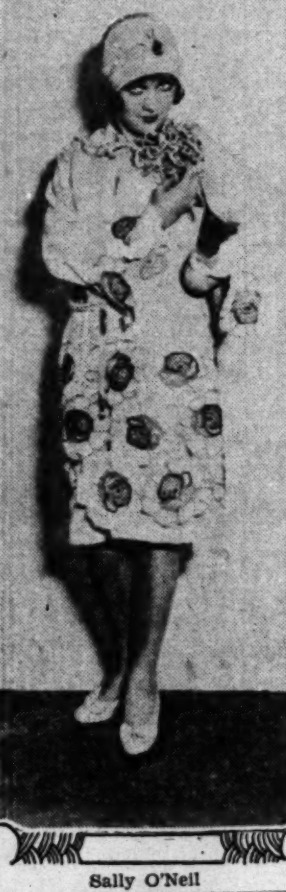

"As the amount of ground which will be covered by the new barracks will be quite large, there were only two or three locations available, and while each has something in its favor, it was determined to locate them on the western part of the reservation facing San Vicente Boulevard and to cancel the tentative location against which Cook camp filed protest."

"The site finally decided upon is one of two sites recommended by the comrades of Cook camp, and it is felt that the various units contacted, the Grand Army of the Republic, Spanish-American War Veterans and World War Veterans are all now satisfied with the new location. The board was especially anxious to have a location which the men would be pleased with, and it is felt that this was done."

Traffic Smash
Injures Five

Five men were injured, one seriously, yesterday in a collision at Victory Boulevard and Pacoima Drive, North Hollywood, between a motor bus driven by George L. Gordon of 727 S. Street, Sacramento, and a car driven by George Snelling, 60 years of age, of 8937 Bel Air avenue. Following the collision Gordon was arrested for operating a wildcat bus in which he was taking four men to Sacramento to seek work. In the Van Nuys Municipal Court he pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial.

The injured are Bob Daley, 28, of 377 Gladys street, possible internal injuries; John Armstrong, 50, of 505 Crocker street; Ralph Whitney, 31, of the Panama Hotel; Peter McCollough of Sacramento, and Snelling. All were treated at the Van Nuys Receiving Hospital.

NEW GOALS AHEAD
IN TALKING FILMS

Sally O'Neill

Court Halts
Conduit Laying

Installation of a proposed electric conduit under certain specified streets in the Wilshire district by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation was halted late yesterday when Superior Judge Collier handed down a temporary restraining order.

The suit is one in which the City of Los Angeles charges that the gas and electric corporation illegally is using the public streets for the purpose of distributing electric energy for power purposes. It is contended by the city that the corporation has no franchise rights covering the distributing of electricity for purposes other than illumination and that it is evading the payment of a 3 per cent franchise charge paid by other utilities.

The writ was made returnable next Monday, at which time the corporation will be called upon to show cause why an order should not remain in effect until the entire suit has been threshed out on its merits.

Actress Makes Transition to Sound Pictures

The advent of the talking motion picture in Hollywood threatened to write film to the vivacious entertainment supplied screen fans by Sally O'Neill, but the threat was short lived.

When producers began casting about for stage actresses to appear in the new adaptation of motion-picture entertainment, the diminutive actress contracted with Fanchon and Marco to tour their circuit in California and in the East. That was a turning point of Miss O'Neill's career. A short time later she scored a triumph in New York and offers began coming from Hollywood.

Warner Brothers, through Darryl Francis Zanuck, associate executive, succeeded in obtaining her services for an assignment.

Now Pathe has her signature on a contract, effective at the conclusion of her Warner production, for a 100 per cent talking picture in which she will share honors with Eddie Quillan in a story of college life.

Despite the fact that Miss O'Neill at first refused to accept offers made after her New York success, she says now that she is glad to be back in Hollywood where she gained stardom in the films.

WILLARD VICTOR IN SUIT
Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion pugilist, was victor in a court battle before Municipal Judge Chambers yesterday, when a suit for $142.34, asserted due from him to a Hollywood newspaper, was ordered dismissed. Attorneys for the newspaper asserted that Willard, who now is a real-estate operator, owed that amount for advertising. The case was dismissed when Joseph McKenna, defense attorney, was able to show that Willard had not signed the contract with the paper.

NEW TERMS

BIDS FIXED

Council Adopts Changes in Specifications to Balk Collusion Possibility

Changes in the specifications for cement used in public construction which the City Council agreed upon several weeks ago as a measure to thwart asserted collusive bidding by a combine of local cement companies finally were adopted by the Council yesterday.

What is regarded as the most important of the changes is the elimination of the so-called "two-year clause" which provided that no brand of cement could be used in public construction which had not been in successful use in this city for at least two years prior to the date it was submitted for use on any particular public project.

The only other change of importance in the specifications is a redrafting of the provision relative to the type of sack in which cement shipped by water must be contained, the redraft allowing the use of paper sacks of at least five-ply. As now established that section of the specifications reads:

"All cement that is shipped or imported by water shall be delivered either in waterproof paper lined sacks, or waterproof paper sacks of at least five-ply, sealed at the cement mill, with the seal unbroken upon delivery."

Reforms Urged
by Werner for Assessments

Home owners of Los Angeles are entitled to more protection against unfair assessments than they now are receiving, Erwin F. Werner, chief of the State Inheritance Tax Department, declared yesterday in an address delivered before the Badger Club.

Werner, conducting his campaign for election as City Attorney May 7, has pledged himself to work for immediate reform and revision of the present assessment procedure. A limit of debt that can be incurred in creating any one improvement district was advanced by the speaker as one of the most effective means of equalizing assessments.

"With a limit fixed," said Werner, "there can be no chance of the cost of the improvements exceeding the total market value of the property affected."

YACHTSMEN FILE PROTEST
Complaints made by yachtsmen using the Cerritos channel between Wilmington and Long Beach that the operators of the Badger-avenue drawbridge do not take their work seriously in opening the draw for yachtsmen were filed yesterday by the Harbor Commission on recommendation of J. E. Coldridge, a yachtsman, that the service had been greatly improved.

Permission for the students of the University of Southern California to hold an automobile parade this morning from the university to Ocean Station was granted by the City Council yesterday in the adoption of a resolution presented by Councilman Davis.

The resolution set forth that the students plan a farewell rally to the track, baseball and minor league teams which are leaving the morning for San Francisco and that the student body desires to escort the athletic teams to the railroad station after the rally. The parade will be north on the university avenue to Jefferson street, east to Figueroa street, north to Fifth street, and then east on Fifth to the station.

ROAD POLICE
BILL VOTENew Motor
Passes Senate

Los Angeles County
$220,000 in Auto Fees
by Breed Measure

Fight on Political Possibilities Grows Ho
Speed Unchanged

SACRAMENTO, April 4. (Continued from Page 1.)—After wrangling for the day, the Senate today passed the Breed motor vehicle bill, which creates a State-wide motor force, but it took two calls of the Senate, a dozen roll calls and an amount of lobbying to get the bill through. It now goes to the assembly for action.

During the debates the measure, particularly in the Senate, and the wayside justice the peace came in for rough treatment. The sentiment seemed to be that the practice of going up uninvited visiting motorists' sleeping lines upon them should be ended.

The State police force section of the bill was opposed bitterly by Los Angeles delegation and several of the Southern Senators, but attempts to strike it out were defeated by twenty-eight to eight.

AMENDMENT OFFERED
An amendment, offered by Senator Swing of San Bernardino, providing that no person operating an automobile cannot prosecute motorists unless the officer is in a full, distinctive uniform, was adopted by a vote of 18 to 12.

The present provisions relating to the penalties imposed upon drivers were amended to require delivery of a highway patrol car to Long Beach inserting a provision into the bill in place of penalties. An effort to delete the provision to require five miles an hour was defeated by a vote of 18 to 12.

As another move to eliminate the speed limit in the open country, however, it is probable a separate bill along this line will be introduced in the near future. The State police force, termed the Highway Patrol, is to be in the control of the Department of Public Works, now is Bert B. Meek, an active politician for Gov. Young. The department is given the authority to appoint number of inspectors, captains and officers and to fix their salaries. They are not under civil service and can serve warrants and enforce the Motor Vehicle Act in part of the State.

SCHOOL ESTABLISHMENT
The chief of this patrol will be permitted to establish a training school. Land and buildings may be bought or leased for such purpose. The patrol chief can make rules of policy and procedure for the enforcement of the law. Captains and men shall be detailed for the jobs by the various supervisors in the county where the men will operate. They get the jobs only at the discretion of Director Meek.

ROLLS-ROYCE SPEEDSTER . . . COACHWORK BY BREWSTER . . .

No Rolls-Royce owner is ever worn out

NO ROLLS-ROYCE owner has ever stepped from the car stiff-legged and weary. Even at the end of a long, long drive, he's as fresh as the motor that powered the miles, as buoyant as the springs that veiled the ruts.

Prove it! Choose a point 100 miles away and turn a Rolls-Royce toward it. Fast? Of course you'll drive fast. The mere touch of a Rolls-Royce wheel is an invitation to turn the minutes into miles. Especially in this new Rolls-Royce speedster. Close one eye and cock the other at the picture above. Can't you see speed in every line of the car—in the rakish doors and fenders, in the tilt of the top? Can't you see yourself splitting the road at 60 or 70? And we mean 70 road-miles—rough road-miles—clocked by a speedometer as accurate as the finest watch.

Yes, you can drive other cars as fast. But do you? Not often—and not for long. That's the sweet advantage that Rolls-Royce holds. There's something about this car that lets you make the most of its wonderful speed. You drive like the wind, you drive for hours—but without fatigue. You ride relaxed—as though you were lounging in a big chair at your club. No taut grip on the wheel. You lay the car on a line and it holds direction. You give it the gun, and even at 60 you're not conscious of speed. For there's not a murmur from the motor, scarcely a jiggle from the wheels. Yet when you want to stop, you can! Rolls-Royce brakes will stop you instantly, yet so gently your back never leaves the seat.

But we can't describe Rolls-Royce in action. You have to drive it to know what we mean. Then you'll feel the thrill of it! The thrill of knowing that here is a car that will go all day long, all night long, without even a whimper. A car that has beaten the Century from Chicago to New York. A car that will take mountain trails like a burro. A car that will do all this and more, not with the straining of a show-off, but with that easy nonchalance found only in the born aristocrat.

Don't you want to see the car? Don't you want to ride in it? Write—we'll send a Rolls-Royce to your door. One turn at the wheel for 100 miles or more, and there'll be only one car in all the world for you... Rolls-Royce!
